St. Clair Improvement Seen Assured

★ ★ ★ County To Grant $75,000 ★ ★ ★

County commissioners Monday afternoon approved a grant of up to $75,000 to help pay East Liverpool's share of a project for rebuilding St. Clair Ave. from Princeton Ave. to the city limits.

The commissioners' action, in effect, got the stalled project off dead center, as the plans had been shoved onto the shelf because the city feared it would be unable to meet its share.

ADVISED of the commissioners' action, Council agreed at its meeting last night to meet in special session Friday night at 11 to revive enabling legislation for the project.

The commissioners' action will permit the city to guarantee that its share of the project is available — clearing the way for an advertisement for bids. The commissioners' action provides that any part of the $75,000 not needed to pay the city's share will be refunded to the county.

The action was taken unanimously by Commissioners James Boyd, Walter A. Hunston and Galen Greenisen.

The project had been stalled more than four months after revised cost estimates raised the city's share.

At its regular session Monday night, Council approved a suggestion from Norman Bucher, chairman of the ordinance committee, calling for the special meeting to consider enabling legislation for the project.

BUCHER commented that the legislation might have been presented last night, but the committee decided to wait.

Plans for the project have been on dead center since Aug. 2, when Council was advised the estimate had been raised to $846,680 — up nearly a quarter of a million in seven months—and the city's share had been revised upward to $423,393.

City officials have been negotiating since then with the State Highway Department in an effort to find some method by which the project could be allowed to proceed. The estimate of a $423,393 share was beyond the city's ability to pay, councilmen declared.

The county's contribution, plus about $150,000 in special assessments from property - owners, would reduce the city's actual expenditure to about $198,000.

The city sought to persuade the state to proceed with opening of bids on the work before the municipality was required to post its share. Councilmen thought the bid price might be well below the state's estimate and the city's share would be correspondingly lower. But the state replied the city must guarantee its funds officially before bids could be opened.

THE PROJECT calls for a three-lane 36-foot pavement of reinforced concrete, along with a complete storm sewer drainage system.

When the estimate stood at $600,000, the city was ready to provide its $300,000 share with about $150,000 in assessments against property owners and $150,000 in the municipality's own funds.

After the city protested the sharp upward revision of the estimates, the state furnished alternate plans — at lower prices — for reducing the scope of the project. But nothing came of the suggestion to lower the price by narrowing the pavement or cutting the length of the project.

That's where the project had stood until Council agreed last night to consider reviving the job.

AT THE SPECIAL meeting Friday, Council also will consider a six - page ordinance spelling out regulations governing the operation of the city incinerator department.

Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper presented the proposed legislation last night, but suggested that councilmen study the lengthy measure and be ready to submit any recommendations for changes before action is taken.

The special session was set for 11 because several members will be working late shifts at Midland mills.

The regulations have been under study since late last spring.

In other business at a routine meeting, Council approved a resolution confirming the action of the Board of Public Utilities in spending $1,621 to replace parts in a boiler at the water filtration plant that were damaged by sludge buildup.

The resolution declared that the repairs were required to be made immediately in order to keep the water plant in operation and therefore the board was unable to go through the prior procedure of advertising for bids with Council authority. It added that $1,085 of the expense was covered by insurance.

COUNCIL approved the legislation after receiving a letter of explanation from the board, signed by Donald T. Duke, water superintendent.

Council also approved legislation granting wage raises to three employes in the water and sewage department offices, effective Jan. 15.

In the water department, the legislation raises the chief clerk from $335 to $365 monthly and the clerk - stenographer from $289 to $319. In the sewage department, it boosts the assistant clerk - stenographer from $250 to $288. Seven other clerical employes at City Hall were voted pay raises at the meeting Dec. 2.

Council also approved an omnibus ordinance listing all the city's two - way and four-way stop intersections; streets on which parking is prohibited on both sides and streets on which one - way traffic rules are in effect.

The ordinance combines in

McNamara Gives Views

NATO Told U.S. A-Arsenal Could Destroy Russians

PARIS (AP)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said today the awesome might of the growing U.S. atomic arsenal could destroy Russian society if the West ever was subjected to a nuclear surprise attack.

He also said the North Atlantic Alliance is strong enough to fight a conventional war with the Soviet Union without plunging the world immediately into a nuclear conflict.

McNamara told the ministerial meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization that new appraisals of Eastern and Western military strength showed that the West is able to take care of itself in any war, little or big.

McNamara challenged the conventional picture of a world in which the West was so hopelessly outnumbered and outgunned by hordes of Communists that Western military leaders would have to fall back at once on nuclear weapons in case of attack.

In his speech, relayed to correspondents by briefing officers, McNamara put the American case for a multitude of possible Western responses to Communists, ranging all the way from small local engagements to nuclear war.

McNamara stressed that this was not the moment for the Atlantic Alliance to slacken its efforts to build up conventional military strength. With a bit more effort, he said, the deficiencies in NATO strength could be made good now.

For years NATO has maintained a target of 30 battle-ready divisions deployed in Europe, but has never been able to reach this figure. The alliance's strength now amounts to about 23 divisions.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk spoke in forceful terms of the political and military advantages of Washington's proposal for a mixed-manned, Polaris-armed surface fleet — a pet project of the late President Kennedy.

Earlier, Rusk had urged the alliance to support the Soviet Union in its "fundamental and far-reaching split with Communist China."

Rusk told the North Atlantic Treaty (NATO) Ministerial Council Monday:

"In the quarrel between Chinese militancy and Russia's peaceful coexistence, our interest is to see that Moscow prevails....We must not allow militancy to pay dividends."

Although he conceded the NATO allies were a long way from resolving differences with Russia, he said: "We in the West should let Moscow know that we are interested in peaceful coexistence."

Rusks's view found some sup-

Vows To Support Assembly

Johnson Promises To Keep Peace In Address To U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — America's new President came before the community today with a pledge of support and an "unswerving commitment to the keeping and the strengthening of peace."

President Johnson addressed the United Nations in the great hall of its General Assembly. It was his first international forum since he took the helm of government Nov. 22, upon the death of John F. Kennedy.

"I have come here today to make it unmistakably clear," Johnson said, "that the assassin's bullet which took his life did not alter his nation's purpose."

The President thus brought the reassurances expected of him, but no new major policy pronouncements or proposals.

He did suggest in generalities that a modern new deal could build a better world, that it is time for a peaceful revolution on a universal scale to improve human welfare and dignity.

But, said Johnson in a prepared text:

"The greatest of human problems—and the greatest of our common tasks—is to keep the peace and save the future...

"If there is one commitment more than any other that I would leave with you today, it is my unswerving commitment to the keeping and the strengthening of peace...

"The United States wants amity, security, and peace for all, and above all.

"President Kennedy, I am sure, would regard as his best memorial the fact that in his three years as president the world became a little safer and the way ahead a little brighter. To the protection and enlargement of this new hope for peace, I pledge my country and its government."

Johnson lauded the United Nations for successes exceeding failures. Yet he recognized that vast problems remain: conflicts between great powers and between small nations, disagreements over disarmament, persistence of ancient wrongs against human rights, tag-end problems of colonialism.

But nations which created these problems by working apart can solve them by working together, the President said.

He did not emphasize specific areas of conflict and disagreement or suggest any specific solutions.

He did say what the United States wants.

He mentioned an end to the cold war, first of all.

He said his country also wants to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons to nations not now having them, to push on with arms control and reduc-

Nine Miners Die, One Hurt In Utah Blast

Disaster Occurred In What Was Called Model Mine In West

HELPER, Utah (AP) — Nine coal miners were killed and another injured Monday in an explosion in what was described as a "model mine in the West."

The blast occurred at the face, or end, of one of two shafts which branch out from the end of a 2,800-foot tunnel into the side of a mountain near this central Utah community.

"They never knew what hit them," said James Diamanti, mine co-owner. "They fell right where they were working. They must have hit a pocket of gas."

State Industrial Commission officials at the scene theorized the blast was caused by either coal dust or methane gas.

It was the second major mine disaster in Utah this year. Eighteen men were killed Aug. 27 in a potash mine explosion

Winston Porter Dies Suddenly

Winston A. Porter, 43, president of the Globe Brick Co. and active in numerous East Liverpool civic affairs, died suddenly in Pittsburgh this morning while attending a business meeting. He had not been ill.

Mr. Porter had gone to the Refractories Institute offices in downtown Pittsburgh and was sitting at a desk talking to Avery Newton, executive secretary, when he suddenly collapsed. The police emergency squad was called but a nurse in the building determined that he had already died. Death occurred about 10 a. m.

Mr. Porter had been president of Globe Brick since 1953.

Active in the Junior Chamber of Commerce, he had been given its Distinguished Service Award. He also was past president of the Jaycees. He joined the Rotary Club in 1954.

Dresden Ave. Car Collision Hurts Woman

2 Drivers Charged By Officers After Traffic Mishaps

A woman motorist was injured and two other drivers were cited as the aftermath of three city traffic collisions in a 30-minute period Monday afternoon.

Suzette Beaver, 24, of 1911 Lisbon St. was taken to City Hospital by an unidentified passerby after her car was struck in the rear in a collision at 2:20 p. m. at Dresden Ave. and Webber Way.

She was released after examination at the hospital.

The woman told officers she had halted on Webber Way because of a truck backing into the Riggs Co. when her car was hit in the rear.

Leland B. Huff, 38, of Radio Heights told officers he made the turn from Dresden Ave. into Webber Way when the woman halted and he was unable to stop to avoid the collision.

Police cited Huff for failing to stop within the assured clear distance.

Huff was fined $25 and costs when he appeared this morning before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Patrolman William A. Devon, who cited Huff, told the court the defendant had been drinking, but not to the extent to justify a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol. The judge told Huff he was "lucky you are not charged" with the more serious offense.

Noting that Huff was carrying a West Virginia driver's license, the court instructed him to obtain an Ohio permit.

Held Hostage 10 Days

4 Americans, 15 Others Given Freedom In Bolivia

ORURO, Bolivia (AP)—Four Americans held hostage for 10 days by Communist-led tin miners hoped to return today to La Paz, Bolivia's capital, following their release Monday night.

The Americans and 15 other hostages got their freedom after a noisy, tense meeting of 4,000 miners approved an agreement between the government and dissident Vice President Juan Lechin, boss of the mine workers' federation.

The Americans, three members of the U.S. Embassy staff in La Paz and a Peace Corps volunteer, were found in good health but in a highly nervous state by mine company doctors.

The other hostages—a West German, a Dutchman and 13 Bolivians — returned to their families and jobs in Catavi, where they had been held.

The Americans were brought by a jeep convoy over 30 miles of treacherous mountain road through pouring rain to Oruro, hub city for this Andean mining area. U.S. Ambassador Douglas Henderson greeted them and arranged for a flight to La Paz today, although the rain threatened to delay takeoff.

The hostages were seized Dec. 6 in retaliation for the government's arrest of two Communist mine union leaders, Irineo Pimental and Federico Escobar, on criminal charges. The Americans had gone to Catavi, 150 miles southeast of La Paz, to deliver a $15,000 U.S. aid check to help in the construction of two schools.

"For the last 10 days, the Commies have tried to force us to ask for Pimental's and Escobar's release, but not one of us gave in," said one of the Americans, Thomas M. Martin Jr., 27, of the Bronx, N.Y.

"They tried all sorts of scare tactics," added Martin, a U.S. Information Agency officer.

Another hostage, Bernard Rifkin, 52, Brooklyn-born labor adviser for the U.S. Agency for International Development, said the worst part of the ordeal was the night of their capture.

"They put guns in our backs and set off dynamite," he reported.

Cold Respite's Brief With Snow Now Seen

East Liverpool got some respite today from the near-zero cold wave but the temperature will tumble again with snow due to add to the misery of pre-winter weather. Winter is due officially Sunday.

The downtown had a relatively mild 13 this morning, although an overnight low of 5 below to 5 above had been forecast. The outlook for tonight is a low of 4 to 10 degrees above with intermittent snow after midnight. There was no indication of the accumulation. Today's high will range from 15 to 20 degrees.

The cold will continue Wednesday with the snow changing to flurries, according to the Ohio weatherman.

Beaver Fire Loss Heavy

BEAVER FALLS — Fire struck a downtown building housing a bowling alley and a department store early today and extensive water damage resulted.

The blaze, which broke out at 5:30, was confined to the rear top floor of the three - story brick building and caused only $1,000 damage.

But Beaver Falls Fire Chief Ed Phillips said water damage ranged from $50,000 to $100,000.

The building housed the Alderette Lanes, a bowling alley in one of the upper stories. The W. T. Grant Co. department store occupies the ground floor.

Two firemen suffered slight frostbite of the hands while fighting the flames.

The fire touched off an automatic sprinkler system in the bowling alley. When police entered the building, they were met by about a foot of water that had cascaded from the upper floors.

Ernie Cline, a radio announcer reporting for work in an adjacent building, discovered the fire.

World's Most Publicized Lovers

Burton Divorced, Free To Wed Elizabeth Taylor

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Richard Burton is free today to marry Elizabeth Taylor, who may be free any day now to marry him.

Thus, the world's most publicized lovers are halfway to the altar, a trek that took two years and $40 million to accomplish.

The love affair started when Burton played Marc Antony to Liz's Cleopatra.

Sybil Burton, long - suffering wife of the swinging Welshman, got a Mexican divorce Monday and a reported settlement of $1.5 million. She also got custody of the couple's two young daughters.

Next step calls for singer Eddie Fisher to institute Mexican divorce proceedings against the raven-haired star he married after Mike Todd's death.

Anything Liz wants, she can get from Eddie. "I will do anything to make Elizabeth happy, I wish her only the best," he told a newsman.

Elizabeth's lawyer is in New York now discussing settlement terms with Eddie's lawyer. A settlement is expected momentarily. Then the lawyer — not Eddie—will go to Mexico and obtain the divorce by proxy.

Once the pre-trial formalities are ironed out, the actual courtroom proceedings take about 15 minutes.

Fisher, informed of Mrs. Burton's divorce Monday, said:

"Marvelous! Bravo!"

Insiders believe that the Burton-Taylor nuptials will take place almost immediately after the settlement between the actress and Fisher.

The setting will undoubtedly be Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, the remote resort town where Burton recently finished filming "The Night of the Iguana."

Elizabeth and Burton have bought a four-story house there, the biggest in town—and plan to live there until Burton starts rehearsals next year for his plain clothes Broadway version of "Hamlet."

one law the regulations that formerly were scattered through many pieces of legislation over a period of years. It makes no essential change in traffic regulations, however.

THE NEW ordinance will become Section 464-2 of the City Code.

Councilman James Welch reported on a plan prepared by City Engineer George S. Bloomgren for a safety island which the Lions Club has proposed to build at the intersection of Broadway and E. 4th St.

A traffic count made Dec. 9 showed that 4,339 vehicles passed the corner in a 10-hour period, Welch said. Six times a day, about 600 students cross the intersection when classes are changing at the High School, he added.

Queried by Welch, Safety - Service Director Robert Owen said Bloomgren's sketch and report already have been presented to the State Highway Department. The Highway Department approval was necessary because Broadway now is a link in State Route 39's path through the city.

Reporting for the finance committee, Robert W. Sample Jr., chairman, said it will meet today to work out year - end fund transfers that probably will be presented to Council for legislative approval at the special session Friday.

TWO MEN appeared to thank Council for enacting legislation last week establishing the Human Relations Board to deal with civil rights problems. They were Alonzo Spencer of Pennsylvania Ave., president of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Crawford Price of Erie St., president of the United Progressive Council.

Joseph Burcham of W. 4th St. told Council Midland has eliminated parking meter fees during the Christmas season and he feels East Liverpool should follow suit. He also proposed a 20-cent hourly raise for laborers on the city payroll. No action was taken on either suggestion.

Two more concerns filed applications with Council for permission to operate central TV cable systems in East Liverpool.

The applications were filed by the East Liverpool TV Cable Co. and by the Telco firm of Lewistown, Pa.

THE LOCAL application was filed by Don Featherstone, 1813 Idaho Ave.; Earl Diddle, 805 Cadmus St.; George Hissam, 820 Neptune Ave., Chester, and Donald Chaney, 800 Carolina Ave., Chester.

The letter said the firm would erect a central antenna and install cable to homes, enabling householders to receive "five to seven different channels."

The Lewistown concern's application was essentially the same. It was signed by J. S. Fisher, who conferred later with Council on requirements for operating authority. He said his firm has been in the cable TV business since 1951.

Both applications were filed for action by the franchise committee of the Council that will take office Jan. 1.

An earlier application for the same authority was filed with Council by a Weirton concern.

Council also received a letter signed by six residents of outer Dresden Ave. requesting installation of several new street lights.

THE REQUEST covered the section of Dresden from the junction with the new Freeway to the city limits.

"The stretch of Dresden Ave. from Maggie's Restaurant to the bend to the north is jet black—no street lights," the letter said. It was referred to the street committee of the new Council.

Councilman Floyd Murray, president pro tem, presided because President George E. Willshaw is acting mayor while Mayor Bert H. Goodballet is on vacation in Florida.

Murray welcomed Mayor-elect Merrill D. Hall, Robert Vodrey, designated as his safety-service director, and Donald Hancock, who will take office as a councilman - at - large Jan. 1.

Baughman was elected delegate to the Ohio Dairymen's Association with Lowmiller as alternate.

Dr. D. J. Kern of Homeworth gave report on the tuberculosis and brucellosis programs in Columbiana County, reporting the county still is a modified certified brucellosis - free county. He said the county ranked as the first certified in 1956 and has continued that way since.

The group also discussed organization duties and reports. Fifteen attended.

Fund Cleared At Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — Council Monday night passed an emergency 90-day appropriation for the first three months of 1964 totaling $167,295.

This is an increase of $6,000 over the same appropriation adopted last year. The increase was made in order the city might pay off some sewer bonds.

Council voted to reject the three bids opened Thursday for a new street department truck. All exceeded the expenditure of $4,000 for the vehicle. The lowest bid was $4,120.

Council adopted a new expenditure of $4,300 and will readvertise.

Chester R. Whitehouse, elected to Council Nov. 5, appeared and advised the other members he will not qualify or accept the post. He is county superfor the State Highway Department. Council will fill the post in January. Whitehouse who had been president of Council, resigned because of the job with the state, and declared, although his name was on the November ballot, he would not serve if elected.

Post Office Rush Seen Under That For 1962 Period

Although the Post Office is in its peak holiday mailing period, mailings so far haven't been quite as high as last year, Postmaster Samuel W. Brown said today.

Brown said cancellations totaled 80,000 on Monday, about 8,000 less than the corresponding date in 1962.

However, cancellations do not offer a true picture on the volume of mail since outgoing parcels are not included. And no record is maintained on incoming mail.

A stamp window was open Sunday afternoon and the postmaster said the day was about as busy as a normal working day.

It was mostly purchasing stamps and mailing parcels, but that helped relieve Monday's load, he pointed out. An augmented crew was on duty to help handle the extra work.

Cancellations reached 18,000 on Sunday, about nine times more than the normal Sunday, he pointed out.

12 Little Girls Set Up Howl For Leo The Lion

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Leo is a derelict.

Leo still has a little of the old fire—he growls and paces up and down in mock anger—but to be honest he's not much when it comes to lions.

Nonetheless, 12 Phoenix girls —8 to 13 years old—are determined to get Leo a chance to start life anew as a real, scary African lion.

The owner never was found. So the mangy old lion became a ward of the Phoenix Zoo.

He's spent his time far back in the holding compound because there isn't a fancy outdoor enclosure for him. All the enclosures, built with funds donated by individuals and firms, were occupied.

The zoo decided to sell Leo. He was taking up space, and he sure wasn't earning his three pounds of horsemeat a day.

The 12 little misses promptly set up a howl. They insisted they would collect the money—$16,000—to get Leo his enclosure.

Laela Bell, 12, was unperturbed.

"Who ever heard of a zoo without a lion?" she said.

And Jacque Webster, 11, said, "I'm just awfully afraid Leo feels nobody cares a thing about him."

Jean Ann Bell, 9, admitted, "I've never seen a real, live lion and it's about time I did."

First they staged a backyard circus. Total collections—$19.35.

"It was a beginning," said Alava Bell, 13.

Next came an art show. Working from school-out until dark for days, they set up a gallery in 9-year-old Shelly Springman's back yard. Paintings, needlework and ceramics were displayed on picnic tables.

It cost 25 cents to make the tour. The art was for sale, too.

"For sale—50 cents. $1 if you have it."

The show netted $153.02.

The girls are still at it—this time selling homemade novelties.

Lawyers Seek To Get Ruby Out Of Jail For Christmas

DALLAS (AP)—Jack Ruby's lawyers are trying to get the man who killed the accused assassin of President Kennedy out of jail before Christmas. The state insists he should be kept behind bars.

Dist. Judge Joe Brown ordered a Dec. 23 hearing on a defense request Monday for release of Ruby under bond. His trial on a charge of murder is set for Feb. 3 before the same jurist.

During this legal activity at the county courthouse, heavier-than-normal traffic continued outside the building past the point where a hidden rifleman ambushed the President Nov. 22. It was two days later that Ruby shot Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin, in the City Hall basement.

A flag flies at half staff over a grassy parkway beside this spot in the edge of the business district. Fresh flowers appear there daily. Dozens of wreaths hang from a fence erected to support them.

Tom Howard of Dallas, one of the lawyers representing Ruby, applied for a writ of habeas corpus in the move to free the prisoner. The application contends that Ruby, 52, owner of a Dallas strip joint, is entitled to release under bond pending trial.

Howard also said the defense staff, headed by Melvin Belli of Los Angeles and San Francisco, wants Ruby to undergo psychiatric examination and this cannot be done properly in jail.

Testimony Heard In Beaver Trial

BEAVER — Testimony started Monday afternoon following seating of a jury in the trial of Russel Milnes, Beaver County treasurer charged with fraud and misbehavior in office.

District Atty. Richard P. Steward alleges Milnes filed expense vouchers for two Sundays and four legal holidays.

County Controler James Tress verified this but Defense Atty. John Hudacsek objected, declaring the point was whether the work was done, not if the Courthouse was open.

The objection was overruled, however, and Tress admitted under cross-examination that he did not know if any work was or was not performed on the days mentioned.

The original charge against Milnes were filed by William Kovolenko of Aliquippa during the recent general election campaign. Kovolenko was an unsuccessful candidate for county commissioner on the Constitutional Assembly Party's ticket.

House Trailer Fire Causes $400 Damage

Fire caused an estimated $400 damage to the trailer home of Leslie Diezman, 510 4th St., Wellsville, Monday at 5:50 p. m.

Firemen said the underneath section of the trailer burned, damaging some flooring and tile. There was very little damage to the inside or furnishings.

The blaze was caused by an improperly installed heater cord to keep a water line from freezing. It overheated and ignited the bottom of the trailer.

Mark VonStein, 2, son of Earl VonStein of Industry R. D. 1, received a laceration of the chin in a fall out of bed.

Firemen Point To Time Element In Toys Appeal

More useable toys are needed for distribution to needy children, city firemen said today in surveying a large room in Central Station filled with donations of dolls, bicycles, tricycles, wagons and games.

Firemen have repaired and painted some of the articles but are in need of spare parts to make some of the other donations useable.

A blond doll looks like Venus de Milo without arms, a bicycle has wheels but no handlebars, another has no seat, a wagon needs a set of wheels and an axle.

Many of the other articles should have been junked, but firemen said the missing parts might help make some child happy.

Because of the limited time left for distribution of the toys through the city relief department, firemen said additional donations should be articles that need little or no repair.

Police Peace Conference Needed

All too often in the wake of important police action in this country, a spatter of rancor spots the record.

The latest spatter has occurred in the wake of the Sinatra kidnaping, with Los Angeles Police Chief William H. Parker pointing out that the Federal Bureau of Investigation worked on a case in his jurisdiction without letting his department participate.

Before this, there had been evidence of misgivings about the handling of the Kennedy assassination investigation, with the FBI, the Dallas police, Texas authorities and the Secret Service sidestepping around one another warily.

THE WHOLE country was shocked in that instance when it learned that assassinating a president of the United States cannot even be dealt with as a federal crime; there is no federal law against it. And that means under the circumstances that the federal government has no clear legal right to be in the picture at all.

To all intents and purposes, the atrocity in Dallas was an affair for the same local officials in Texas hats who set up their prisoner and prime suspect for a fatal assault by one of their local acquaintances.

Kidnaping, of course, is a federal crime. The FBI has a clear right to investigate a kidnaping. But whenever its investigation enters a jealously guarded police jurisdiction there are recriminations.

IS IT TOO much to ask that a national police conference be held to thresh out the problem of inter-relationships, with a view to letting the rest of us know where we stand with the police protection we gladly pay for and would like to receive without evidence of jealousy and friction?

Boating Lessons

With the mercury flirting with zero and warm weather months away, this may seem an unlikely time to even think of boating.

Such is not the case, however. There is no time like the present to prepare for the boating pleasures which will return with spring and summer.

The Review carries a weekly column which provides valuable tips for water enthusiasts. And now, in a more practical sense, a series of 10 courses on the basic rules and regulations, safety considerations and manners and customs in boating will be offered area residents by the Brilliant Power Squadron.

The classes will begin Jan. 8 at the Ohio Edison Co. plant at Stratton and continue for 10 consecutive Wednesdays at 7:30 p. m.

For newcomers to boating, the lessons should prove invaluable. For those who already have had boating experience, a refresher course can do no harm.

Hardly A Desperation Cut

Word that the Soviet Union has whacked $666 million out of its 1964 military budget will be greeted by some applause but much speculation that Russia's economy must be so down at the heels the emphasis had to swing from swords to plowshares.

In theory, that sounds good. It isn't news that the Russian economy is having trouble. Russia has had a poor harvests, and events touched off by its faltering farm production have been making headlines.

In fact, however the Russian budget cut is neither cause for applause nor reason to believe dire domestic problems are sapping the nation's war chest.

THERE IS NO doubt the Kremlin wants to increase agricultural producing and pump more dollars into its expanding chemical industry. But don't let anyone tell you Soviet warlords would permit diversion of military funds for peaceful purposes unless the funds weren't needed.

The Soviet government is run by the military. The fact the government has authorized a military spending cut means that the people who spend that money have authorized it—that they don't need it.

Civilians, who run the U.S. government, chop at this country's military budget with shouts of dismay about "overkill"—surplus capability for total destruction of an enemy.

By reducing its military budget, the Soviet Union is, in effect, telling us that it's pretty well stocked in the overkill department, too.

BEFORE ANYONE gets excited about the spending reduction, take another look at what's left. The $666 million may seem impressive by itself, but it pales to insignificance in the shadow of the $14.76 billion the Soviets have kept in the war chest for 1964.

It figures out to less than 5 per cent. We can do that well here in the arsenal of democracy.

Good Scouts

Through their accomplishments, they have become a credit to the scouting program which offered them an opportunity to demonstrate their skills and citizenship in many ways.

Scouting in Columbiana County and adjacent areas will continue to expand both in quantity and quality as long as such youngsters remain in its ranks.

Trampled In The Rush

Critics say the time was frittered away by a do-nothing Congress. Their criticism may be frivolous.

The fact Congress did so little while staying in session so long is a symptom of something more serious than lack of willingness to act. It is a symptom of legislative paralysis—lack of ability to act.

The will to act is as strong as ever, but ability to act has been impaired by an affliction that may well be the most serious thing that could have befallen the United States.

Our country is living under the curse that made France impotent before Gaullism overcame the paralysis caused by "splinter parties."

THERE ARE two major parties in the United States. Each is subdivided and resubdivided into numerous "splinters."

Northern liberal Democrats have nothing in common with Southern reactionary Democrats. Western and Eastern moderate Democrats have nothing in common with either Southern reactionaries or Northern liberals.

The Democratic party is hopelessly and helplessly splintered. And to add to its futility, the congressional seniority system has placed a preponderant majority of reactionaries in control of committees.

Republicans are afflicted with the same paralysis. They too, are splintered into diverse and irreconcilable factions.

The byplay and desperate struggle for ascendancy among GOP factions sapped party strength in the long years between Herbert Hoover and Dwight Eisenhower—and neither man, it must be remembered, was satisfactory to the party's conservative core.

This is why Congress is going home this week with a legislative record so spotty and weak that neither side can lay claim to any accomplishment.

IT WILL BE asserted that this and that bill got trampled in the closing rush. The fact is the thing of greatest importance trampled in the rush is likely to be constitutional government in the United States.

The republic is well on the way to the demonstration of a sad fact—that irreconcilable factions in Congress, supported by irreconcilable factions in the population, have afflicted representative democracy with paralysis.

We Won

By Truman Twill

Thank you, Y. A. Tittle.

You made it respectable to be mature.

There isn't a football fan alive who doesn't know that under your helmet shines a head of pure skin.

A nation has looked at your leathery face and into your deep-set eyes and found something there more encouraging than evidence that life is a monopoly of the young.

It's not that you are chronologically old—only 37 as the crowsfeet spread. But for a top-flight football player—most valuable in the National Football League this season—that's maturity plus.

WHAT YOU'VE done, Y. A., is strike a blow for maturity in a sport where the emphasis is necessarily on youth.

It makes people wonder when they see you play football if the value of maturity is being overlooked other places.

Generally overlooked, we mean.

We swallow hard when we read about a boy wonder being put in charge of a job before he's old enough to be dry behind both ears.

We know what's going to happen.

The kid's going to go like a house afire, and anyone who ever saw a house afire, can predict what happens next.

THEY SAY the dead wood has to be pruned out. They say the fuddy-duddies have to be junked. They say youth must be served; that the old dogs have had their day.

That's why we thank you, Y. A. Tittle—you and old Archie Moore and old Konrad Adenauer and oldies everywhere who keep the young at bay.

People are chuckling because you were tired after leading your team to the eastern division title in the National Football League.

You had every right to be tired. Men younger than you were tired, and they haven't carried your two added handicaps—responsibility for running the team and the moral obligation to prove there is no substitute for savvy.

Every time you ran a play, old boy, millions of us arthritic, string-halted, spavined, desiccated, leathery, tottering old tremblers were out there with you, holding tight to our eyeglasses, dentures, hearing aids and canes.

But we won, didn't we, Y.A.?

Going Someplace, Mister?

Johnson Meets With The Labor Leaders

By Victor Riesel

(It now is possible to put on the record the first full report of the first closed - door meeting between Lyndon Johnson, as President, and the nation's top labor chiefs. It is historic because of the intimate view it gives of the President and of what the union policy-makers have on their minds. — Victor Riesel.)

A few minutes before 4 p.m. on Dec. 4 labor's high command arrived in a group at the White House. They had come to meet Lyndon Johnson, who was a stranger to, or slight acquaintance of, most of the 25 men. An hour later they were his full political and ideological partners — and good friends.

Victor Riesel

When they entered the Cabinet Room they found Labor Secretary Wirtz, Under Secretary Henning and all assistant secretaries except one who was out of the country.

In a few moments they were joined by Secretary of Agriculture Freeman, Secretary of Defense McNamara, Secretary of the Treasury Dillon, Secretary of the Interior Udall, Secretary of Commerce Hodges and Walter Heller, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers. Exactly at 4 the President walked in.

HE LISTENED most of the time, but he spoke their language when he did speak. Mr. Johnson asked AFL - CIO President George Meany to introduce him to every labor leader he did not know.

"I want to get to know these fellows," said the President, "on a first name basis."

Then, with Meany and Walter Reuther flanking him at the big table, Mr. Johnson said informally:

"I asked you fellows here because I want to know what is on your minds. Tell me. I need to know — and these fellows (the Cabinet members) need to know. George, why don't you start by telling us what you have on your mind?"

Meany replied that the labor men were there as citizens to offer their support.

"I know, George," said Mr. Johnson, "that you were always a great warrior for President Kennedy. Every time he called for your support, he got it.

"I need your support more than he did, because he had more talent than I have."

At this point he bowed his head, asking that they all observe a minute of silence for the late President.

THE PRESIDENT listened as Meany discussed the Negro issue. From the very beginning Mr. Johnson made copious notes as the labor men spoke. From time to time he broke in with specific comments on the make-up of congressional committees — the balance of power and the number of liberals and conservatives on each.

This political plain talk and approach — so different from the more philosophic tone of Mr. Johnson's predecessor — struck a sympathetic set of chords in his listeners, the toughest bargainers in the land.

Then Meany talked of unemployment, "medicare," Davis-Bacon fringe benefits (a complex labor proposal on federal construction projects), a big public works program, the need for a tax cut bill, and foreign aid — which was the only international issue raised.

Reuther spoke of educational needs and the President took a swift 45-second phone call. A TV man came in and announced that the cameras were ready in the Rose Garden.

Mr. Johnson asked his guests to come with him and stand on the stairs around him as he spoke of 75 million jobs. It was cold. But, in the Kennedy tradition, he stood hatless and coatless. So did they. They trooped back in.

GEORGE MEANY reopened the conversation with a discussion of automation, while Mr. Johnson continued to make notes. Meany said he had been unfairly portrayed by the newspapers as a "Luddite" (a worker in 19th century England who destroyed manufacturing machinery because he feared it would cause unemployment).

"I will not take a sledgehammer to machines," Meany said, "but I tell you, Mr. President, there are fewer full time jobs in the private economy than a decade ago. I have been told that automation is ending 4 million jobs every year."

Reuther said there were 87,000 fewer workers in the auto industry today than in 1947. Jim Carey, head of the International Union of Electrical Workers, said there were 88,000 jobless in the electrical manufacturing industry and he wanted the end of overtime and a rigid 40-hour week.

Meany then said there should be a full scale commission of business, labor and government to study automation. He predicted that the 35-hour week would be the answer.

Each time a figure was mentioned, or action proposed, President Johnson added swiftly to his notes.

THE LABOR MEN asked him for only one committment —the continuation of the President's Labor - Management Advisory Committee. This came from the Steelworkers' Dave McDonald. The President said it would continue. He has since written to all members, asking them to convene shortly.

A few minutes before 5 o'clock — at which time the businessmen's committee was due—Mr. Johnson told the labor chiefs:

"I want you to understand one thing, gentlemen. The doors of this house are always open to you.

"I want to hear from you when you have troubles and when you have ideas."

Then he made a sweeping gesture towards his Cabinet men and added:

"And their doors are open, too."

A Grim Parallel

By Don Cook

Brussels Meeting To Be Watched

PARIS

In these closing weeks of 1963, there is a growing and somewhat grim parallel in Europe to the closing weeks of 1962.

A vital negotiation is underway in Brussels. It is coming up to a showdown and a deadline. One year ago, under similar circumstances nobody could envisage that President de Gaulle would invoke a single-handed veto against British entry into the European Common Market. Today the issue involves the existence of the market itself.

There is, perhaps, less of a sense of indifference of impossibility in assessing what the French president might or might not do, but nevertheless there remains a feeling—particularly, it seems, on the part of the Germans—that this is more of a war of nerves than a genuine crisis and that the advantages of France continuing in the Common Market outweigh the disadvantages of France taking actions in Brussels in the next two or three weeks tantamount to a break-up or a demise of the market.

NOTHING COULD be farther from the truth. In the narrow sense it seems incomprehensible that a Dec. 31 deadline on the success or failure of a negotiation should be sacrosanct or decisive, after two or three years somewhat desultory discussion of a problem—in this case a common agricultural policy for the Common Market. But the fixing of deadlines and the ruthless pressures to make those deadlines stick and mean something is part of the art of power and diplomacy.

The question is not so much the deadline but the determination behind it—like having an atomic bomb ready in the Cuban crisis.

Admittedly, the advantages to France and to French diplomacy of leadership of the Common Market are great—far greater than the reaction which France will reap if the Common Market dies in Brussels early in the new year. But so, it seemed to every rational and sensible statesman, economist and politician in Europe, were the advantages of enlarging the Common Market to include Britain one year ago. Only Gen. de Gaulle said no.

As this Brussels crisis moves to a climax, therefore, it's essential to try to sort out the reason which Gen. de Gaulle might have for doing to the Common Market itself exactly what he did to the British one year ago.

Leave aside the exact form his action might take—whether he simply withdraws France from further activity in the market, whether he declares the Rome Treaty to be a dead letter because nobody is living up to it, whether he "suspends" French activity in the market pending an agricultural agreement.

THAT SIDE of the crisis is a matter of legalistics and tactics, and whatever de Gaulle does it will have the dual aim of protecting French interests and French advantages which have been derived from the Common Market while at the same time bringing the operations of the Market to a halt.

What then might be De Gaulle's reasons for this ruthless and rigid insistence on agreement by the end of the year on agricultural policy, or else a new and unknown situation?

First and fundamentally lies the fact that De Gaulle is not by any stretch of the imagination a "Common Market enthusiast." He inherited the Common Market from the Fourth Republic.

He regards all supra-national institutions as infringing on the sovereignty and freedom of action of France (which indeed they do), and he has no philosophical sympathy for the Monnet, or Federalist European, concept.

De Gaulle, in other words, has none of the ideological, philosophical, political attachments to the Treaty of Rome which its authors cherish.

When he came to power in 1958, he took a cold look and decided to move forward with the Common Market for only one reason: France stood to gain economically and politically out of it.

TODAY, FRANCE has gained all it can on the industrial side out of the Common Market, and De Gaulle's only further interest is the gains he can achieve for his farmers.

"What would the very words 'European Economic Community" mean if Europe did not for the most part assure its food supplies from its own agricultural sources, which are amply sufficient?" he asked rhetorically at his last press conference.

"And what would France do in a system in which there soon no longer would be any customs tariffs except for its wheat, its meat, its milk, its wine and its fruit?"

Nor do the French have any enthusiasm for the Kennedy round of tariffs except for its wheat, its meat, its milk, its wine and its fruit?"

Nor do the French have any enthusiasm for the American round of tariff negotiations on an international scale at Geneva, scheduled for May. Nor does De Gaulle believe the Common Market to be an essential foundation to the political future of Europe.

In short, De Gaulle wants what he can get out of the Common Market for the French farmers, and if he cannot get what he wants, then he couldn't care less about the Rome Treaty or the idological enthusiasm which brought it into being.

He is ready and capable of dropping his own particular atomic explosion over the European Economic Community. And that is why the situation in Brussels in the next three weeks is so strenuously serious.

Today In History

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1903, Orville and Wilbur Wright made the first successful airplane flight in history near Kitty Hawk, N.C. Orville Wright was at the controls in the initial flight, which lasted 12 minutes.

On this date . . .

In 1791, a performance at the John Street Theater in New York City is said to have inspired the first regulation for one-way street traffic.

In 1939, the German pocket battleship "Graf Spee" was scuttled off Montevideo, Uruguay, early in World War II.

In 1944, the Malmedy massacre occurred during the battle of the bulge in World War II, as Nazi storm troopers machine-gunned 80 American prisoners of war.

Ten years ago...The Federal Communications Commission approved a system of compatible color for television.

Five years ago...The Eisenhower administration ordered a substantial budget reduction in programs to develop a nuclear-powered airplane.

One year ago... President John F. Kennedy told the nation by television that the Cuban confrontation had made a Soviet-American understanding less likely in the foreseeable future.

The praying mantis is the only insect, so far as is generally known, that can turn its head around as we can.

Threat To Art

A mysterious green fungus threatens to obliterate some of mankind's oldest works of art.

Micro-organisms are growing over the magnificent paintings created by Cro-Magnon artists 20,000 years ago on the walls of Lascaux Cave in France.

The French government has closed the cave and appointed a scientific commission to study ways of checking the strange, stubborn growth. Experts speculate that the fungus is feeding on bacteria brought in by visitors or drawn through the ventilating system.

"There are as many microbes in the cave as in the Metro (Paris subway) during rush hour," one French biologist said.

Lascaux Cave stands among hills of the Dordogne region in southwestern France. The cave was discovered in 1940 by four school-boys hiking through the woods. Their dog tumbled into a hole and they slid cautiously after the animal. The boys found themselves in a vast grotto covered with paintings of enormous bulls, horses and deer.

City Will Lift Parking Ban For Sweeper

Because the mechanical sweeper cannot work in wintry weather, Council instructed Safety-Service Director Robert Owen Monday night to lift a regulation that bans parking after midnight on paved streets when the cleaning device is in operation.

The question was raised by Councilman S. James Welch, chairman of the street committee. He pointed out that metal signs are still in place banning parking on streets that are swept regularly, but the program virtually has been eliminated for the winter.

"I don't think the people should be required to move their cars, but a lot of them still are obeying the signs," he said. "The street committee recommends that the city forget about ticketing under this ordinance until sweeping resumes regularly in the spring."

Owen replied that the proposal would necessitate removal of the signs and replacing them in the spring, but he added that "it won't be too much of a job."

Councilman Edward Massey said the city of Albany, N. Y., covers the lettering on the signs with tape, but allows them to remain in place. In that way, they need not be taken down in winter and returned in spring, he said.

Councilman Norman Bucher said Owen should notify the police department not to ticket motorists for violation of the regulations.

Welch then moved for removal of the signs, seconded by Councilman Floyd Murray, and the motion passed unanimously.

Owen said the sweeper may work at odd intervals when weather permits, but the program will be suspended, generally speaking, until warm spring weather arrives.

Firemen To Haul Santa At Newell

Newell volunteer firemen will treat Santa Claus to a ride on their new fire truck, and Santa will in turn treat the youngsters with candy and gifts Wednesday night.

St. Nick is to ride through the community with firemen and wind up his annual visit at 6 at the fire station where treats will be given Newell area children.

Mrs. Louise Staley, chairman, said the Christmas treats is a project of the volunteer firemen, Newell Civic Council, and American Legion Post 114 and auxiliary.

There will not be a parade as in the past, because a band is not available.

2 Members Enrolled By Firemen At Newell

Hillman May and Melvin Whittington were enrolled as regular members after completing one - year probationary service at a meeting of Newell volunteer firemen Monday night.

About 20 attended at the station and Mike Gibas, president, presided.

Woman Driver Fined

Anthony, 42, of Leavittsburg forfeited $20 appearance bond for passing at the crest of a hill. Both were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Kennedy Assassination

Legal Staff Will Scan Evidence In FBI Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — After preliminary study of the FBI's report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, the Presidential Investigating Commission is calling for the evidence on which the report was based.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, heading the high-level board of inquiry, announced its decision Monday night and disclosed that the commission is building a legal staff to help it scan the evidence.

Warren told newsmen the move was "a perfectly normal thing." But it was clear that the commission intends to scrutinize and evaluate the FBI's work on the case instead of taking the FBI findings at face value.

The still-secret FBI report is understood to indicate that Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, was the hidden rifleman who killed Kennedy on Nov. 22 in Dallas and to dismiss, by omission, the theory that Oswald had help or accomplices.

The Warren commission, it appears, wants to sift every scrap of evidence available which might resolve, one way or the other, any suspicion of collusion or conspiracy. Such talk gained circulation after the captured Oswald was shot dead in a Dallas police garage by nightclub owner Jac Ruby, 52.

After a 2½-hour meeting of the seven-man commission and its general counsel, J. Lee Ranking, Warren told reporters he felt that "no statement of any kind should be forthcoming at this moment."

"We decided it would be essential to have the materials on which the reports we are receiving are based," he said, adding:

"We are formally requesting the agencies to supply that material to us."

The wanted materials, he said, do not include physical items of evidence like the Italian-made rifle which fired the fatal shots or the three matching rifle bullets recovered after the assassination.

The commission does want to inspect the documents, investigation reports, statements of individuals, and similar basic investigative material, Warren said, not only from the FBI but from the other federal agencies involved in the far-flung inquiry.

Last Of Local Victors Files Expense List

The last of the successful East Liverpool candidates at the Nov. 5 general election filed his sworn expense statement Monday with the County Election Board.

A successful candidate for the Beaver Local Board of Education and an unsuccessful city candidate also filed the reports required by the Corrupt Practices Act.

The deadline for filing the reports is Friday at 4 p. m., Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, emphasized.

Nearly 30 officials - elect, including at least one in Wellsville, still haven't complied with the law along with some 60 defeated candidates, O'Hanlon said.

The law prohibits the election board from issuing a certificate of election to winning candidates who do not comply. The certificate is one of the steps required in order for a candidate to qualify.

State law also automatically bars a candidate from seeking public office again for five years if he does not file the report.

Norman R. Bucher was the final East Liverpool winner to file. The Democratic candidate reported expenditures of $53.21 in winning a Council-at-large post.

Wilkinson Heads 'Ham' Radio Club

D. G. Wilkinson of Jennings Ave., city income tax collector, was named president of the Triangle Amateur Radio Club at a meeting Monday night at the Ohio Power Co. building.

Trumbull First Ohio County To Attempt Lend Lease Setup

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Trumbull County has become the first of Ohio's 88 counties to try turning its operations over to a private authority through a lend lease arrangement.

The county commissioners approved, 2 to 1, Monday the formation of a nonprofit corporation to finance and build a $2.6 million courthouse and jail.

The county has a 50 per cent matching grant of $1.3 million from the federal government for the project. However, to keep the grant the county must come up with a definite plan for financing its share within two months.

Commissioner Roy A. Stillwagon said the county cannot meet its share from general revenue tax money.

"The county is now faced with an almost $2 million relief deficit," he said, "and we should do something about that before adding to our general fund worries."

Commissioners Joseph Baldine and Robert E. Hagen voted for creating a nonprofit corporation to issue bonds and erect the courthouse and jail. The corporation would enter into a lease - purchase arrangement with the commissioners, to whom the building would be turned over in 20 years. Stillwagon voted against the proposal.

The Cleveland law firm of Squire, Sanders & Dempsey was hired to work with the office of County Prosecutor Lynn B. Griffith in setting up the corporation.

Leniency Shown In Alleged Fraud On Jobless Pay

Winnie E. Sanderson Jr., 611 Sugar St., was given a suspended 10-day County Jail term today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff when he pleaded guilty to a charge he obtained benefits by fraud from the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

The judge suspended Sanderson's term after George N. Blair of Canton, BUC investigator, made a plea for leniency. Blair said that Sanderson obtained a total of $161 by fraud from the BUC, but has made arrangements for it all to be repaid today. The court told Sanderson to pay the costs.

Blair's affidavit charged specifically that Sanderson obtained benefits for the week ending July 27 by certifying that he was out of work and had no earnings in that week "whereas in truth and in fact he was employed and did have earnings."

Blair told the judge Sanderson was a "victim of circumstances." The defendant is married and supports three children, he said.

Southern Local Yule Concert Set

A Christmas concert will be presented by Southern Local High School groups Thursday night at 7:30 at the Salineville Grade School.

Charles Temple, director, said the senior band, training band and chorus will present a holiday program ranging from "Christmas Festival" (Anderson) by the band to "Jingle Bells" and "Home for the Holidays" by the chorus. Other selections will be from the musical, "How to Succeed in Business."

Temple said the concert is being held at the grade school instead of the high school because of the accoustics. Special tile is to be placed in the high school auditorium over the holidays to eliminate echoes.

Two Lisbon drivers were cited after a collision on Route 30 just west of Lisbon at 5:15 p. m. Monday, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Robert Lee McIntosh, 21, of 392 E. Lincoln Way pulled out and was passing a west bound auto operated by Raymond Charles Davis, 19, of R. D. 1 as Davis also pulled out to pass a third vehicle.

Use Boron with Ice-gard for positive protection against fuel line freeze-up in any Ohio weather
When fuel line freeze-up happens, you stop cold! Gasoline can't get to your engine because ice has blocked your fuel line! This ice is caused by water condensed from the air in your gas tank that has worked into a low point of your fuel line and frozen solid. Your car will probably have to be towed away to a heated garage. And then you'll have to wait . . . and wait . . . until your fuel line thaws out!
You can prevent this serious winter driving problem by using Boron Gasoline with its special Ice-gard ingredient! This added Ice-gard ingredient keeps water from freezing so ice cannot form. Boron with Ice-gard flows freely to your engine! Your very first tankful of Boron with Ice-gard protects you against a frozen fuel line! And continuous use keeps that protection going strong!
For years, drivers have protected themselves against fuel line freeze-up by buying fuel line anti-icers and adding them to their gasoline. Regular use of Boron with Ice-gard makes this unnecessary, because Ice-gard is already in Boron! You get positive, automatic protection against fuel line freeze-up. And you get it at no extra cost!

City Will Lift Parking Ban For Sweeper

Because the mechanical sweeper cannot work in wintry weather, Council instructed Safety-Service Director Robert Owen Monday night to lift a regulation that bans parking after midnight on paved streets when the cleaning device is in operation.

The question was raised by Councilman S. James Welch, chairman of the street committee. He pointed out that metal signs are still in place banning parking on streets that are swept regularly, but the program virtually has been eliminated for the winter.

"I don't think the people should be required to move their cars, but a lot of them still are obeying the signs," he said. "The street committee recommends that the city forget about ticketing under this ordinance until sweeping resumes regularly in the spring."

Owen replied that the proposal would necessitate removal of the signs and replacing them in the spring, but he added that "it won't be too much of a job."

Councilman Edward Massey said the city of Albany, N. Y., covers the lettering on the signs with tape, but allows them to remain in place. In that way, they need not be taken down in winter and returned in spring, he said.

Councilman Norman Bucher said Owen should notify the police department not to ticket motorists for violation of the regulations.

Welch then moved for removal of the signs, seconded by Councilman Floyd Murray, and the motion passed unanimously.

Owen said the sweeper may work at odd intervals when weather permits, but the program will be suspended, generally speaking, until warm spring weather arrives.

Firemen To Haul Santa At Newell

Newell volunteer firemen will treat Santa Claus to a ride on their new fire truck, and Santa will in turn treat the youngsters with candy and gifts Wednesday night.

St. Nick is to ride through the community with firemen and wind up his annual visit at 6 at the fire station where treats will be given Newell area children.

Mrs. Louise Staley, chairman, said the Christmas treats is a project of the volunteer firemen, Newell Civic Council, and American Legion Post 114 and auxiliary.

There will not be a parade as in the past, because a band is not available.

2 Members Enrolled By Firemen At Newell

Kennedy Assassination

Legal Staff Will Scan Evidence In FBI Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — After preliminary study of the FBI's report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, the Presidential Investigating Commission is calling for the evidence on which the report was based.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, heading the high-level board of inquiry, announced its decision Monday night and disclosed that the commission is building a legal staff to help it scan the evidence.

Warren told newsmen the move was "a perfectly normal thing." But it was clear that the commission intends to scrutinize and evaluate the FBI's work on the case instead of taking the FBI findings at face value.

The still-secret FBI report is understood to indicate that Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, was the hidden rifleman who killed Kennedy on Nov. 22 in Dallas and to dismiss, by omission, the theory that Oswald had help or accomplices.

The Warren commission, it appears, wants to sift every scrap of evidence available which might resolve, one way or the other, any suspicion of collusion or conspiracy. Such talk gained circulation after the captured Oswald was shot dead in a Dallas police garage by nightclub owner Jac Ruby, 52.

After a 2½-hour meeting of the seven-man commission and its general counsel, J. Lee Ranking, Warren told reporters he felt that "no statement of any kind should be forthcoming at this moment."

"We decided it would be essential to have the materials on which the reports we are receiving are based," he said, adding:

"We are formally requesting the agencies to supply that material to us."

The wanted materials, he said, do not include physical items of evidence like the Italian-made rifle which fired the fatal shots or the three matching rifle bullets recovered after the assassination.

The commission does want to inspect the documents, investigation reports, statements of individuals, and similar basic investigative material, Warren said, not only from the FBI but from the other federal agencies involved in the far-flung inquiry.

Last Of Local Victors Files Expense List

The last of the successful East Liverpool candidates at the Nov. 5 general election filed his sworn expense statement Monday with the County Election Board.

A successful candidate for the Beaver Local Board of Education and an unsuccessful city candidate also filed the reports required by the Corrupt Practices Act.

The deadline for filing the reports is Friday at 4 p. m., Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, emphasized.

Nearly 30 officials - elect, including at least one in Wellsville, still haven't complied with the law along with some 60 defeated candidates, O'Hanlon said.

The law prohibits the election board from issuing a certificate of election to winning candidates who do not comply. The certificate is one of the steps required in order for a candidate to qualify.

State law also automatically bars a candidate from seeking public office again for five years if he does not file the report.

Norman R. Bucher was the final East Liverpool winner to file. The Democratic candidate reported expenditures of $53.21 in winning a Council-at-large post.

Lee J. Myers reported no expenses in winning a seat on the Beaver Local school board.

The board authorized the president, James Lowe, and clerk, Miss Kathryn Liebschner, to sign a contract for a brother and sister to attend the Youngstown School for the Deaf and also approved tuition payments for the two youngsters along with a girl attending Youngstown schools as a ward of the court.

Bid On Bonds Gets Sanction

Council approved legislation Monday night for award of three bond issues totaling $71,750 to a Columbus investment house.

The Ohio Co. submitted the best bid when offers were opened Monday afternoon by City Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate.

It offered to purchase the three issues at an interest rate of three per cent and offered a premium of $241. The three issues authorized by Council several months ago are $31,000 for the purchase of a fire department pumper; $29,500 for purchase of land and equipment for the service department and $11,250 for the resurfacing and sealcoating of streets.

Three other firms also offered to buy the bonds with a three per cent interest rate but offered smaller premiums.

Savings, Loan Group Protests New Regulations

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Savings and Loan League reported today that it had filed a protest with the Federal Home Loan Bank Board in Washington on the proposed new federal regulations demanding stiffer reserve requirements for savings and loan firms.

Joseph E. Linville, executive secretary of the league, said the action was taken after league members had discussed the proposal.

He noted that the league shares the federal board's concern over operations which tend to dilute the reserve ratio of insured savings and loan associations, and that the Ohio league "has constantly fostered a policy of building high reserves." The basis of its protest, he said, is that the league feels the proposal would fail to accomplish the purpose for which it is intended.

The Ohio league urges the federal board to design a formula for adequate reserves based upon the investment portfolio of the association rather than on the association's savings capital.

The Air Force's Thunderbird precision flying team lead military aircraft of every description in tributes to Orville and Wilbur Wright, who made their historic flight Dec. 17, 1903.

It was the finale of a two-day observance at the spot where the Wrights lifted their heavier-than-air craft 10 feet off the ground.

It was the finale of a two-day observance at the spot where the Wrights lifted their heavier-than-air craft 10 feet off the ground.

Santa and the Haunted House

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: The children rode the crescent moon through the sky until a voice directed them to fall off into a passing cloud.

The children went spinning down the Milky Way.

CHAPTER 13

The cloud carried the children across half the world until it came finally to the Milky Way and gently dropped the children there.

The children found themselves sitting in a sea of stars that stretched in an unbroken path across the sky and down to the edge of the earth.

Miss Jo began to slide down the path. "It's slippery!" she cried. "Like a bamboo slide!"

Jeremy and Sissy began to slide. Before they knew it, they were all three spinning down the Milky Way — faster, faster — on and on for thousands of miles. When the slide came to an end, the three children went right on falling until plop! plunk! ploop! they landed, one after the other, in a soft white snowdrift that was piled against a little red house. The door of the house flew open and a plump whiskered fellow burst out, crying, "What's this?"

THE CHILDREN knew without being told that they had reached Santa Land at last. They dug themselves out of the snowdrift and scrambled to Santa's side. Miss Jo threw her arms around his legs and cried, "Oh, Santa! Nog's going to kill you dead!"

Santa's mouth dropped open and he stared at her. Then he threw back his head and laughed. "Come inside. We'll have some cake and you can tell me all."

"Cake?" cried Sissy.

"Nog's cake?" asked Jeremy in alarm.

Santa shooed them through the door. "I don't know whose cake. It just arrived and it is a very pleasant surprise. I was just about to have a piece."

He pointed to a huge chocolate-covered cake on the table by the fire. The children looked at it. Their eyes popped wide and they all began to talk at once.

"It's Nog's cake! It's filled with Hate and Greed and Powdered Trouble. It's got rattlesnake tongues in it and spider legs. It's—"

"Wait, wait," said Santa smiling. "Suppose you tell me one at a time. Start at the beginning and tell it to the end."

He sat down and put Sissy on one knee and Miss Jo on the other. He nodded to Jeremy and said, "Now begin."

—:—

SO JEREMY told how the children had gone to the Haunted House in the Kingdom of Poo and there they had seen the wicked Nog making a terrible cake for Santa because he hated Santa and Christmas and everything. If Santa ate the cake he would die and Nog would take over Santa Land.

While Jeremy talked, Santa's face grew very stern. When Jeremy finished, Santa got up and took a knife and cut right through the cake.

It was a dark color with a white cream filling. It looked delicious but a juicy bit of icing fell on the plate and Santa picked it up and looked at it and saw it wasn't icing at all but a squashed caterpillar's eye.

Santa was very upset. Nog had been put out of Fairyland, he said, because he was so wicked. But apparently he hadn't changed his ways so he — Santa — had better go and talk to Nog and see what could be done.

Santa put on his hat and scarf and said, "Come with me to Poo and we'll settle this right now."

"But," gasped Jeremy. "You can't go to Nog's house. It's haunted!"

"Pshaw!" said Santa. I'm not afraid of Nog's haunts."

"But—what will you do if he catches you?"

Santa took a purple stone from his pocket and held it out for all to see. "This is a charm from the Fairy Queen," he said. "It will save me, I think."

Beaver Included In Order Cutting Feed Grain Cost

BEAVER — Beaver County is one of seven additional Pennsylvania counties designated by the Department of Agriculture to be offered government-owned feed grain at reduced prices to supplement feed supplies.

Twenty - nine counties previously were designated in Pennsylvania for the farmer assistance program. Other newly - named counties are Armstrong, Centre, Lycoming, Monroe, Tioga and Venango.

The drought condition in all of the counties is a carry - over from 1962 and has resulted in inadequate pasture and short feed supplies, with most of a small early hay crop already used up. The action will help farmers carry their breeding stock through the winter and early spring.

The CCC-owned feed grains, as available, will be offered under the program through county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committees. The committees are charged with the responsibility of determining eligibility of producers for assistance.

On Aid, Wheat Sales

President Takes Setback In House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The foreign aid battle has cost President Johnson his first setback on Capitol Hill since becoming chief executive, and with stinging criticism of Congress he looked hopefully to the Senate to recapture some of the losses.

The House dealt the administration a double jolt Monday, upholding an $800-million cut in foreign aid appropriations and adding a surprise amendment to recapture some of the losses.

The House dealt the administration a double jolt Monday, upholding an $800-million cut in foreign aid appropriations and adding a surprise amendment prohibiting the government from guaranteeing private financing of wheat sales to the Communist bloc.

It added up to another obstacle in the path of the battered aid measure and there seemed to be a good chance that final passage would have to be put off until next year.

As the House was voting 249-135 to hold spending for economic and military assistance to $2.8 billion—$1.7 billion below what the late President John F. Kennedy requested — Johnson issued a sharply worded statement.

Johnson used as a vehicle for his criticism the foreign aid authorization bill which puts restrictions on the program and fixes a spending ceiling of $3.6 billion.

In his statement after signing the measure, Johnson made clear that he considers $3.6 billion "a dangerous reduction in funds" and that anything less would represent "a policy of weakness and retreat."

In words similar to those once spoken by his predecessor, Johnson said tartly "we cannot oppose the spread of communism and promote the growth of freedom by giving speeches."

The authorization measure, he said, reflects the nation's determination to maintain security by helping those willing to help themselves. But he added:

"It also reflects, unfortunately, the growing tendency to hamstring executive flexibility with rigid legislative provisions wholly inappropriate and potentially dangerous in a world of rapid change."

U.S. and American negotiations for the sale of about 4 million tons of U.S. wheat have been hung up on the question of shipping rates. In approving the proposed sale Oct. 9, Kennedy had added a requirement that the wheat be carried on U.S. ships when available. Russians have objected to the higher U.S. shipping rates.

The House amendment, designed to throw a monkey wrench into the wheat deal, was adopted by a 218-169 vote when offered by Rep. Paul Findlay, R-Ill.

Midland Post To Take Part In District Christmas Party

Plans were completed at the meeting of Midland American Legion Post 481 Monday night to participate in the district Christmas party Saturday at the Deshon Veterans' Hospital in Butler.

Steve Crano reported on the Sons of Legion skating party at the Kay-Bee Rink last Saturday and said that plans have been made for a Christmas party and gift exchange at the post rooms next Saturday evening.

William Coble reported on the recent auxiliary meeting at the Willows Motel in Industry. He said a Christmas party was set for Friday night at the post home and that the auxiliary will hold no further Friday night social parties until Jan. 10.

Crano and Woodrow Pflugh, co-chairmen, reported the post Christmas toy program is on schedule and that Santa will apparently make his rounds on time this year.

Coble said the post did not give life memberships to five World War I members, as reported, but nominated them for the award. He said action on the nominations will be taken in the near future, according to post bylaws.

Announcement was made of a District 26 meeting Jan. 4 at Monaca Post 580 and a Beaver County meeting Jan. 5, at Ambridge Post 341.

Next meeting of Post 481 will be Jan. 6 at 7 p. m. after an executive session. Lunch was served by the house committee. John Waddingham, commander, presided.

It involved a halted car operated by William E. Smith, 37, of 510 Oak Grove Rd., Wellsville, and a 1961 auto driven by Nellie P. Harper, 49, of Chester R. D. 1.

Smith said he had halted for the signal when his car was struck in the rear. The woman told police her foot slipped off the brake pedal and the car bumped into the Smith auto. The only damage was to the rear bumper of the Smith auto, police said.

Leonard A. Dorsey, 20, of 946 Lisbon St. was cited by police for driving left of center after his northbound car struck a descending auto in the 1000 block of Lisbon St. at 2 p. m. yesterday, police said.

Dorsey was fined $10 and costs today in Municipal Court.

Dorsey told police he was headed uphill and pulling another car when he swung too wide on a curve and sideswiped the southbound car driven by William H. Mills Jr. of Sunnyside Ave., damaging the entire left side of the auto.

Dorsey was driving a 1953 auto owned by Richard A. Baker, 938 Lisbon St., police said.

Police also filed a belated report on a collision at Broadway and E. 6th St. at 6:16 a. m. Monday in which a woman driver was injured slightly.

The mishap involved a 1956 sedan driven by Beulah Smith Stevens, 1704 Allison St., and a 1957 model club coupe operated by Dale Glenn Morell, 32, of 726 Lincoln Ave.

The woman said she attempted to stop for a traffic light, but her auto skidded on ice and hit the rear of Morell's. She was treated at City Hospital for abrasions of the chin.

Dam Disaster Victims Get Pledge Of Aid

"It's obvious these victims are not responsible for the damage," Yorty said Monday.

"They will be compensated and we will help them file claims against the department of water and power and the city," Yorty said.

Damage from Saturday's devastating flood could run to more than $10 million dollars, officials estimate.

Nearly 300 million gallons of water roared through a break in the earth-filled structure Saturday afternoon, crashing down on the homes below and sweeping at least three persons to their death.

Sixty-four homes were destroyed, and 82 homes and 55 apartment buildings received major damage. At least 27 persons were injured.

Cleanup crews hauling away the mud and debris also watched for a possible fourth victim of the swirling flood waters.

Officer Sees Violation

2 Drivers Get $25 Fines For Passing School Bus

Two drivers accused of passing a halted school bus this morning on Pennsylvania Ave. at Mulberry St. were fined $25 and costs each when they entered guilty pleas a short time later before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

The defendants were identified as Pete Popovich of Industry and George E. Culp, 1920 Chester Ave., Wellsville, both cited at 8:25 by Patrolman William A. Devon.

The officer told the court he was in a halted cruiser on Mulberry St. when he saw the two autos pass the bus. The bus was halted on Pennsylvania Ave. with its warning red lights blinking while it picked up about a dozen students, he said.

Popovich told the judge he stopped, then proceeded again when the bus driver give a signal that the way was clear. Lt. Charles E. (Bill) Tice was the bus driver, an off-duty job. He denied that he had given such a signal.

"As long as those lights are flashing you are supposed to stop," the judge told Popovich. "A child always does the unexpected!"

James E. Boggs, 441 Buckeye Ave., Wellsville, was fined $25 and costs on a charge of failure to stop within the assured clear distance. He was cited by the State Highway Patrol after a crash Saturday on Route 7 near Wellsville in which three were injured slightly.

Two drivers were fined $5 and costs on charges of crashing a stop sign at Mulberry and St. George Sts. and another was given a suspended penalty on an alleged violation at another intersection.

The fines were meted out to: Barbara Wolfe of the Old Fredericktown Rd., cited at 1:50 p.m. yesterday by Patrolman Orin C. Smith, and Charles J. Adams, 2204 Crawford Ave., arrested Monday at 9:30 a. m., also by Smith.

The suspended fine of $5 and costs was given Michael Lona of Rock, Pa., cited at 12:08 p.m. yesterday by Devon on a charge of crashing a stop sign at E. 4th St. and Pennsylvania Ave. He pleaded not guilty, but was convicted.

Two drivers cited by the State Highway Patrol are due for hearings Wednesday and Thursday.

Elbert D. Talkington of Birch Rd. is due for a hearing tomorrow on a charge of passing on a curve. He was cited Monday at 7 a. m. on Route 30.

The Thursday hearing is set for James Roger Hager of Cleveland, cited at 12:35 a. m. today on Route 30 on a charge of passing over a yellow line. He posted a $32.50 bond.

Yule Parcel Nearly Ends Up In Bucket

Postal employes today still are chuckling over the "bomb" that "buzzed."

One of the workers discovered that a parcel addressed to a Canton family was making a distinct buzzing sound while a mail truck was being loaded for a trip to Steubenville.

Fearful that it might be a bomb, the contract hauler flatly refused to put the package on his truck, and other employes stayed as far away as possible from the suspicious-sounding parcel. Usually, a ticking package is doused in a bucket of water until the bomb defusing squad arrives.

Asst. Postmaster Rowland T. Kaufman was summoned back to the office because of the emergency.

Spotting a Wellsville postmark and a return address in Wellsville, Kaufman managed to locate the family and started to question the woman.

She readily admitted mailing a package in Wellsville destined for Canton but was startled when the assistant postmaster said the package sounded like a bomb.

The woman began laughing and finally solved the postman's puzzle — it was a battery-operated shoe shine device!

Postmaster Samuel W. Brown said the device apparently clicked on during handling Saturday night.

The woman told the postal officials they could open the package and turn off the device, but the harried workers suggested instead that she mail a new battery to the Canton family.

Brown explained some parcels for out-of-town delivery, which are mailed in Wellsville, are picked up by a truck from Summitville and brought to the East Liverpool office so the star route carrier can make the trip to Steubenville without halting.

Bobby Klaus, rookie second baseman for the Cincinnati Reds, is the younger brother of Billy Klaus, former major league infielder.

Mine

at Moab, about 100 miles south of Helper.

Jesus Nunez, 45, was near the entrance to the west shaft, about 2,000 feet from the explosion.

The blast hurled him 200 feet, broke his arm and cut him badly.

"I know I was lucky," he said.

Nine men were working in the east shaft and said they didn't hear the explosion.

"We've been told that the mine was a model mine in the west," Diamanti said. "Every safety precaution was taken. There hasn't been a trace of gas in the area for many, many months. I just can't explain it."

Diamanti said the nine victims were drilling at the face of the west shaft and theorized a drill bit may have exposed and ignited a pocket of nethane.

Explosives were not being used.

tion, to cooperate with all U.N. members in conquering hunger, disease and ignorance.

Johnson let it be known in polite, subdued language that America doesn't intend to shoulder all the load. He said it favors an international aid program that is international in practice as well as in purpose. He said that "every nation must do its share."

Johnson's tight New York schedule called for a one-hour visit to the U.N., with a brief reception after his address to meet heads of delegations, then a diplomatic luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria suite of U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson.

The presidential party includes Mrs. Johnson and 11 members of Congress, most of them members from both parties of the House Foreign Affairs Committee and the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

U.N. officials stepped up the headquarters guard force to its full emergency strength of 250 and ordered maximum security enforced throughout their East River buildings.

The big assembly hall was placed under extra heavy guard for the President's appearance.

President Takes Setback In House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The foreign aid battle has cost President Johnson his first setback on Capitol Hill since becoming chief executive, and with stinging criticism of Congress he looked hopefully to the Senate to recapture some of the losses.

The House dealt the administration a double jolt Monday, upholding an $800-million cut in foreign aid appropriations and adding a surprise amendment to recapture some of the losses.

The House dealt the administration a double jolt Monday, upholding an $800-million cut in foreign aid appropriations and adding a surprise amendment prohibiting the government from guaranteeing private financing of wheat sales to the Communist bloc.

It added up to another obstacle in the path of the battered aid measure and there seemed to be a good chance that final passage would have to be put off until next year.

As the House was voting 249-135 to hold spending for economic and military assistance to $2.8 billion—$1.7 billion below what the late President John F. Kennedy requested — Johnson issued a sharply worded statement.

Johnson used as a vehicle for his criticism the foreign aid authorization bill which puts restrictions on the program and fixes a spending ceiling of $3.6 billion.

In his statement after signing the measure, Johnson made clear that he considers $3.6 billion "a dangerous reduction in funds" and that anything less would represent "a policy of weakness and retreat."

In words similar to those once spoken by his predecessor, Johnson said tartly "we cannot oppose the spread of communism and promote the growth of freedom by giving speeches."

The authorization measure, he said, reflects the nation's determination to maintain security by helping those willing to help themselves. But he added:

"It also reflects, unfortunately, the growing tendency to hamstring executive flexibility with rigid legislative provisions wholly inappropriate and potentially dangerous in a world of rapid change."

U.S. and American negotiations for the sale of about 4 million tons of U.S. wheat have been hung up on the question of shipping rates. In approving the proposed sale Oct. 9, Kennedy had added a requirement that the wheat be carried on U.S. ships when available. Russians have objected to the higher U.S. shipping rates.

The House amendment, designed to throw a monkey wrench into the wheat deal, was adopted by a 218-169 vote when offered by Rep. Paul Findlay, R-Ill.

It involved a halted car operated by William E. Smith, 37, of 510 Oak Grove Rd., Wellsville, and a 1961 auto driven by Nellie P. Harper, 49, of Chester R. D. 1.

Smith said he had halted for the signal when his car was struck in the rear. The woman told police her foot slipped off the brake pedal and the car bumped into the Smith auto. The only damage was to the rear bumper of the Smith auto, police said.

Leonard A. Dorsey, 20, of 946 Lisbon St. was cited by police for driving left of center after his northbound car struck a descending auto in the 1000 block of Lisbon St. at 2 p. m. yesterday, police said.

Dorsey was fined $10 and costs today in Municipal Court.

Dorsey told police he was headed uphill and pulling another car when he swung too wide on a curve and sideswiped the southbound car driven by William H. Mills Jr. of Sunnyside Ave., damaging the entire left side of the auto.

Dorsey was driving a 1953 auto owned by Richard A. Baker, 938 Lisbon St., police said.

Police also filed a belated report on a collision at Broadway and E. 6th St. at 6:16 a. m. Monday in which a woman driver was injured slightly.

The mishap involved a 1956 sedan driven by Beulah Smith Stevens, 1704 Allison St., and a 1957 model club coupe operated by Dale Glenn Morell, 32, of 726 Lincoln Ave.

The woman said she attempted to stop for a traffic light, but her auto skidded on ice and hit the rear of Morell's. She was treated at City Hospital for abrasions of the chin.

Dam Disaster Victims Get Pledge Of Aid

"It's obvious these victims are not responsible for the damage," Yorty said Monday.

"They will be compensated and we will help them file claims against the department of water and power and the city," Yorty said.

Damage from Saturday's devastating flood could run to more than $10 million dollars, officials estimate.

Nearly 300 million gallons of water roared through a break in the earth-filled structure Saturday afternoon, crashing down on the homes below and sweeping at least three persons to their death.

Sixty-four homes were destroyed, and 82 homes and 55 apartment buildings received major damage. At least 27 persons were injured.

29 Get Draft Exams

LISBON — Twenty-nine men left this morning for Cleveland for pre-induction physical examinations, Mrs. Elaine Griffith, clerk of County Draft Board 16, said. This concludes the call for inductees and pre-induction physicals for December unless a special call is received, Mrs. Griffith said.

Officer Sees Violation

2 Drivers Get $25 Fines For Passing School Bus

Two drivers accused of passing a halted school bus this morning on Pennsylvania Ave. at Mulberry St. were fined $25 and costs each when they entered guilty pleas a short time later before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

The defendants were identified as Pete Popovich of Industry and George E. Culp, 1920 Chester Ave., Wellsville, both cited at 8:25 by Patrolman William A. Devon.

The officer told the court he was in a halted cruiser on Mulberry St. when he saw the two autos pass the bus. The bus was halted on Pennsylvania Ave. with its warning red lights blinking while it picked up about a dozen students, he said.

Popovich told the judge he stopped, then proceeded again when the bus driver give a signal that the way was clear. Lt. Charles E. (Bill) Tice was the bus driver, an off-duty job. He denied that he had given such a signal.

"As long as those lights are flashing you are supposed to stop," the judge told Popovich. "A child always does the unexpected!"

James E. Boggs, 441 Buckeye Ave., Wellsville, was fined $25 and costs on a charge of failure to stop within the assured clear distance. He was cited by the State Highway Patrol after a crash Saturday on Route 7 near Wellsville in which three were injured slightly.

Two drivers were fined $5 and costs on charges of crashing a stop sign at Mulberry and St. George Sts. and another was given a suspended penalty on an alleged violation at another intersection.

The fines were meted out to: Barbara Wolfe of the Old Fredericktown Rd., cited at 1:50 p.m. yesterday by Patrolman Orin C. Smith, and Charles J. Adams, 2204 Crawford Ave., arrested Monday at 9:30 a. m., also by Smith.

The suspended fine of $5 and costs was given Michael Lona of Rock, Pa., cited at 12:08 p.m. yesterday by Devon on a charge of crashing a stop sign at E. 4th St. and Pennsylvania Ave. He pleaded not guilty, but was convicted.

Two drivers cited by the State Highway Patrol are due for hearings Wednesday and Thursday.

Elbert D. Talkington of Birch Rd. is due for a hearing tomorrow on a charge of passing on a curve. He was cited Monday at 7 a. m. on Route 30.

The Thursday hearing is set for James Roger Hager of Cleveland, cited at 12:35 a. m. today on Route 30 on a charge of passing over a yellow line. He posted a $32.50 bond.

Yule Parcel Nearly Ends Up In Bucket

Postal employes today still are chuckling over the "bomb" that "buzzed."

One of the workers discovered that a parcel addressed to a Canton family was making a distinct buzzing sound while a mail truck was being loaded for a trip to Steubenville.

Fearful that it might be a bomb, the contract hauler flatly refused to put the package on his truck, and other employes stayed as far away as possible from the suspicious-sounding parcel. Usually, a ticking package is doused in a bucket of water until the bomb defusing squad arrives.

Asst. Postmaster Rowland T. Kaufman was summoned back to the office because of the emergency.

Spotting a Wellsville postmark and a return address in Wellsville, Kaufman managed to locate the family and started to question the woman.

She readily admitted mailing a package in Wellsville destined for Canton but was startled when the assistant postmaster said the package sounded like a bomb.

The woman began laughing and finally solved the postman's puzzle — it was a battery-operated shoe shine device!

Postmaster Samuel W. Brown said the device apparently clicked on during handling Saturday night.

The woman told the postal officials they could open the package and turn off the device, but the harried workers suggested instead that she mail a new battery to the Canton family.

Brown explained some parcels for out-of-town delivery, which are mailed in Wellsville, are picked up by a truck from Summitville and brought to the East Liverpool office so the star route carrier can make the trip to Steubenville without halting.

Jesus Nunez, 45, was near the entrance to the west shaft, about 2,000 feet from the explosion.

The blast hurled him 200 feet, broke his arm and cut him badly.

"I know I was lucky," he said.

Nine men were working in the east shaft and said they didn't hear the explosion.

"We've been told that the mine was a model mine in the west," Diamanti said. "Every safety precaution was taken. There hasn't been a trace of gas in the area for many, many months. I just can't explain it."

Diamanti said the nine victims were drilling at the face of the west shaft and theorized a drill bit may have exposed and ignited a pocket of nethane.

Explosives were not being used.

Johnson let it be known in polite, subdued language that America doesn't intend to shoulder all the load. He said it favors an international aid program that is international in practice as well as in purpose. He said that "every nation must do its share."

Johnson's tight New York schedule called for a one-hour visit to the U.N., with a brief reception after his address to meet heads of delegations, then a diplomatic luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria suite of U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson.

The presidential party includes Mrs. Johnson and 11 members of Congress, most of them members from both parties of the House Foreign Affairs Committee and the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

U.N. officials stepped up the headquarters guard force to its full emergency strength of 250 and ordered maximum security enforced throughout their East River buildings.

The big assembly hall was placed under extra heavy guard for the President's appearance.

NATO Countries Spat, But Unite When Needed

Al Simpson, a major in the U.S. Air Force Reserve, is on a tour of U.S. defense establishments in Europe. He will report by airmail for The Review what he sees.

By AL SIMPSON
Special Brush-Moore Writer

PARIS, France (By Airmail) —Is NATO (the North Atlantic Treaty Organization) coming apart at the seams or is it a tightly knit, cohesive force—a bastion of defense for the West?

This is one of the international questions of concern to many Americans who contribute their tax dollars to NATO's support.

Just outside this "magnifique" French capital city, at SHAPE (Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe), we were told today, "The alliance is a long way from being dead."

"If we have any military problems tomorrow we can take care of them," an American colonel assured us.

"But there are political problems," he added.

IT IS the political problems, which override any existing military difficulties, which brought NATO under fire from critics on both sides of the Atlantic who believe NATO is on the way out.

But spokesmen for Supreme Headquarters here, seemingly quite sold on the worth and achievements of the organization they are a part of, see it quite differently. They minimize the problems and stress the accomplishments.

The mission of SHAPE, which controls NATO's military forces in Europe, is two-fold: (1) To prevent war and (2) to defend the NATO community if attacked.

The American colonel who, along with two United Kingdom majors, was briefing us explained that if SHAPE is forced to act on its second mission, it will feel it has failed in its first.

SHAPE'S deterrent strategy is based on three vital elements — dramatically described as "The Sword," "The Shield" and "The Will."

The "Sword" forces are the long-range, heavy, strategic retaliatory units that have the capability to strike back immediately and decisively with devastating effect.

The "Shield" forces are those of land, sea and air which are deplored in forward NATO areas and are equipped with conventional and atomic weapons. They provide tangible evidence of SHAPE's readiness to defend every inch of its area of responsibility.

The third element, "The Will," is the determination of NATO peoples individually and collectively to maintain the strength of the "Sword" and "Shield" forces and to use them in the defense of the NATO nations. It finds expression in SHAPE's motto: "Vigilance Is the Price of Liberty."

SHAPE PERSONNEL describe the deterrent effect of NATO forces by referring to Hitler's technique of taking over a slice of a neighboring nation, presenting the world with an accomplished fact and then claiming he would go no further.

They contend such "nibbling" tactics, backed up by today's "atomic blackmail," are being prevented by NATO ground forces under SHAPE's command.

With the NATO forces in a state of readiness along the Iron Curtain, the enemy nation is forced to make the decision as to whether it wants to make the move which may lead to all-out war. It no longer can "nibble" in comparative safety.

One problem which SHAPE believes is reasonably well solved is that of the exposed flanks of its line of defense, namely the Norwegian-Russian border in the extreme north and the Turkish - Russian border in the extreme south.

THE SOLUTION, as conceived by military strategists here in SHAPE headquarters, was to create a mobile force which can be quickly air-lifted to either border.

Because it is made up of troops of several nations, the thinking is it is more of a deterrent against nibbling tactics than if only the troops of a single bordering nation stood in the aggressor's way.

In rebuttal to the claims that NATO is shaky, those who spoke to us today pointed to Cypress, Suez and other trying moments which tested the organization of 15 nations.

The point they make is that NATO has seemed to flourish through a series of crises which tended to throw partner nations against one another.

THEY COMPARE NATO to a family of 15 children who black one another's eyes occasionally but close ranks and fight together if a stranger picks a fight.

All who have spoken to us seem superemely confident that, in the event of any future crisis, differences would quickly melt away and solidarity of action would be forthcoming.

Put in the language of the North Atlantic Treaty itself:

"They are determined to safeguard the freedom, common heritage and civilization of the peoples, founded on the principles of democracy, individual liberty and the rule of law."

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Avert A Letdown And Get A Lift

A late afternoon let - down is unpleasant and unproductive. A purposeful snack can save the day and the dieter. So, let us create some ingenious ways to cope with hunger and sustain energy without boosting the calories sky high.

Ida Jean Kain

The best hunger quencher consists of protein to provide energy at an even rate, and sufficient bulk to give a feeling of fullness. Our snacks are designed with these two purposes in mind.

The mechanism of satiety takes time to be effective. To create the illusion of a generous portion, divide half a tart apple into eight slices, peeling left on. Divide a three-quarter ounce piece of cheese into small sections, or a slice of cheese into strips. Eat this afternoon repast slowly, and savor for flavor.

If you enjoy hot tea, sip it slowly. Add a clove, a thin slice of lemon, and, if sweetening is desired, add a non - nutritive sweetener.

The working girl can have her pick-up immediately on arriving home. Or, if she prefers, this can be the TV snack.

WORKING GIRLS have asked what they can snack on at home that does not require refrigeration. Here are some purposeful pick-ups, with the calories limited from 55 to 115.

Cube of cheese (¾ oz.) plus 2 crackers 110; toasted cheese, ¾ oz. slice on 2 crackers, or on 2 slices melba toast; 110; cube of cheese (¾ oz.) crisp apple slices—½ apple 115; Hot cocoa—made with 1 cup skim milk, or dry skim milk powder with water; cocoa, 2 level tsp., and non-nutritive sweetener 105.

Glass of buttermilk, or glass of skim milk 85; thin hot toast (½ slice), peanut butter, 1 level tbsp., 115; juicy apple, big orange, or ripe banana, 100; hot tomato juice or bouillon with envelope of gelatin, 55; tangerine juice (6 oz.), 85; hard - cooked egg, deviled with mustard and chopped celery, 85; dietetic low - calorie pudding (D-Zerta) made with skim milk, 54.

U.S. District Court To Air Tax Dispute

CINCINNATI (AP)—If a man lives in one city and works in another, who gets to tax his pay? And what if both cities try to collect the tax?

This situation, which is especially acute in metropolitan areas where many people live in the suburbs but work in the city, is due for an airing in the 1st District Court of Appeals.

Judge Louis J. Schneider of Hamilton County Common Pleas Court ruled recently in the case of a Loveland resident that he had to pay the tax to Cincinnati even though Loveland also had an earning tax ordinance. Both Loveland and Cincinnati appealed the case Monday.

NATO Countries Spat, But Unite When Needed

By AL SIMPSON
Special Brush-Moore Writer

PARIS, France (By Airmail) —Is NATO (the North Atlantic Treaty Organization) coming apart at the seams or is it a tightly knit, cohesive force—a bastion of defense for the West?

This is one of the international questions of concern to many Americans who contribute their tax dollars to NATO's support.

Just outside this "magnifique" French capital city, at SHAPE (Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe), we were told today, "The alliance is a long way from being dead."

"If we have any military problems tomorrow we can take care of them," an American colonel assured us.

"But there are political problems," he added.

IT IS the political problems, which override any existing military difficulties, which brought NATO under fire from critics on both sides of the Atlantic who believe NATO is on the way out.

But spokesmen for Supreme Headquarters here, seemingly quite sold on the worth and achievements of the organization they are a part of, see it quite differently. They minimize the problems and stress the accomplishments.

The mission of SHAPE, which controls NATO's military forces in Europe, is two-fold: (1) To prevent war and (2) to defend the NATO community if attacked.

The American colonel who, along with two United Kingdom majors, was briefing us explained that if SHAPE is forced to act on its second mission, it will feel it has failed in its first.

SHAPE'S deterrent strategy is based on three vital elements — dramatically described as "The Sword," "The Shield" and "The Will."

The "Sword" forces are the long-range, heavy, strategic retaliatory units that have the capability to strike back immediately and decisively with devastating effect.

The "Shield" forces are those of land, sea and air which are deplored in forward NATO areas and are equipped with conventional and atomic weapons. They provide tangible evidence of SHAPE's readiness to defend every inch of its area of responsibility.

The third element, "The Will," is the determination of NATO peoples individually and collectively to maintain the strength of the "Sword" and "Shield" forces and to use them in the defense of the NATO nations. It finds expression in SHAPE's motto: "Vigilance Is the Price of Liberty."

SHAPE PERSONNEL describe the deterrent effect of NATO forces by referring to Hitler's technique of taking over a slice of a neighboring nation, presenting the world with an accomplished fact and then claiming he would go no further.

They contend such "nibbling" tactics, backed up by today's "atomic blackmail," are being prevented by NATO ground forces under SHAPE's command.

With the NATO forces in a state of readiness along the Iron Curtain, the enemy nation is forced to make the decision as to whether it wants to make the move which may lead to all-out war. It no longer can "nibble" in comparative safety.

One problem which SHAPE believes is reasonably well solved is that of the exposed flanks of its line of defense, namely the Norwegian-Russian border in the extreme north and the Turkish - Russian border in the extreme south.

THE SOLUTION, as conceived by military strategists here in SHAPE headquarters, was to create a mobile force which can be quickly air-lifted to either border.

Because it is made up of troops of several nations, the thinking is it is more of a deterrent against nibbling tactics than if only the troops of a single bordering nation stood in the aggressor's way.

In rebuttal to the claims that NATO is shaky, those who spoke to us today pointed to Cypress, Suez and other trying moments which tested the organization of 15 nations.

The point they make is that NATO has seemed to flourish through a series of crises which tended to throw partner nations against one another.

THEY COMPARE NATO to a family of 15 children who black one another's eyes occasionally but close ranks and fight together if a stranger picks a fight.

All who have spoken to us seem superemely confident that, in the event of any future crisis, differences would quickly melt away and solidarity of action would be forthcoming.

Put in the language of the North Atlantic Treaty itself:

"They are determined to safeguard the freedom, common heritage and civilization of the peoples, founded on the principles of democracy, individual liberty and the rule of law."

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Avert A Letdown And Get A Lift

A late afternoon let - down is unpleasant and unproductive. A purposeful snack can save the day and the dieter. So, let us create some ingenious ways to cope with hunger and sustain energy without boosting the calories sky high.

Ida Jean Kain

The best hunger quencher consists of protein to provide energy at an even rate, and sufficient bulk to give a feeling of fullness. Our snacks are designed with these two purposes in mind.

The mechanism of satiety takes time to be effective. To create the illusion of a generous portion, divide half a tart apple into eight slices, peeling left on. Divide a three-quarter ounce piece of cheese into small sections, or a slice of cheese into strips. Eat this afternoon repast slowly, and savor for flavor.

If you enjoy hot tea, sip it slowly. Add a clove, a thin slice of lemon, and, if sweetening is desired, add a non - nutritive sweetener.

The working girl can have her pick-up immediately on arriving home. Or, if she prefers, this can be the TV snack.

WORKING GIRLS have asked what they can snack on at home that does not require refrigeration. Here are some purposeful pick-ups, with the calories limited from 55 to 115.

Cube of cheese (¾ oz.) plus 2 crackers 110; toasted cheese, ¾ oz. slice on 2 crackers, or on 2 slices melba toast; 110; cube of cheese (¾ oz.) crisp apple slices—½ apple 115; Hot cocoa—made with 1 cup skim milk, or dry skim milk powder with water; cocoa, 2 level tsp., and non-nutritive sweetener 105.

Glass of buttermilk, or glass of skim milk 85; thin hot toast (½ slice), peanut butter, 1 level tbsp., 115; juicy apple, big orange, or ripe banana, 100; hot tomato juice or bouillon with envelope of gelatin, 55; tangerine juice (6 oz.), 85; hard - cooked egg, deviled with mustard and chopped celery, 85; dietetic low - calorie pudding (D-Zerta) made with skim milk, 54.

Policeman Challenges Ordinance In Canton

CANTON, Ohio (AP)— A Canton policeman has challenged the legality of a city ordinance governing the firing, dismissal or hiring of policemen, firemen or other city employes.

A suit on the point was filed Monday by policeman Alfonso Conde to test the ordinance, adopted last Oct. 14. Conde received the support of the Fraternal Order of Police here in his action. Canton police say Council cannot adopt such an ordinance and the one here is invalid and unconstitutional.

Santa Claus Cited; Raised Too Much Dust

Clarence (Slim) Williamson, 36, a laborer helping rebuild the Times Tower, was dressed in a Santa suit and beard at the suggestion of his employer, the Wrecking Corp. of America.

He got a ticket from Patrolman Edward Kocienda for "loading building debris from a chute onto a truck without wetting the debris." A company spokesman said the water pipes were frozen.

500 Given Treat At Jaycee Party

Five - hundred children were treated by Santa Claus following the Christmas parade held in Wellsville Saturday afternoon by the Wellsville Jaycees.

The Jayettes held their annual Christmas party for children of members Friday night. Santa Claus distributed gifts to 35. The committee included Mrs. Mary Jane Todd, chairman, Mrs. Myrna Snediker and Mrs. Sue Henthorne.

The Jayettes will mete tonight at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Becky Russell. Officers will be elected. A gift exchange will be held.

U.S. District Court To Air Tax Dispute

CINCINNATI (AP)—If a man lives in one city and works in another, who gets to tax his pay? And what if both cities try to collect the tax?

This situation, which is especially acute in metropolitan areas where many people live in the suburbs but work in the city, is due for an airing in the 1st District Court of Appeals.

Judge Louis J. Schneider of Hamilton County Common Pleas Court ruled recently in the case of a Loveland resident that he had to pay the tax to Cincinnati even though Loveland also had an earning tax ordinance. Both Loveland and Cincinnati appealed the case Monday.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a Kansas high school teacher who did not agree with your reply to the high school student who complained because the rich, well-dressed kids always walk off with the class offices.

I've observed high school elections for several years and he is right. Elections are nothing but popularity contests. Sometimes the popular one also happens to have leadership qualities, but if this is the case, it's only a coincidence.

This year the sophomore class president is a handsome athlete who is so stupid he can't learn the simplest rules of parliamentary procedure. I'm the class adviser and it's a serious problem.

The junior class president is worse. He has big blue eyes, wavy hair, is built like Atlas and doesn't have a brain in his head. The boy is so inept he was unable to make a decent three-minute welcoming speech at the junior-senior prom.

Perhaps in some schools the bright kids are rewarded with the offices, but it doesn't happen here. — CLOSEUP OBSERVER.

Dear Close: Most of the readers who commented agreed with you but I'm sticking by my guns.

I have visited many schools and the schools which have the most attractive and capable student leaders tell me that the reason is this: the administration sets high standards of scholarship and achievement for candidates. Wavy hair and blue eyes aren't enough.

It seems to me in the case you cite, the fault lies with the administration for failing to set up the prerequisites for office seekers.

Prince And Pauper

Dear Ann: I've been married for seven years and I'm still waiting for my first new coat.

For a recent special occasion I borrowed a nice black dress from my sister. My mother and I wear the same size of shoes, so I borrowed her black crepe pumps. If I have to go to a funeral I borrow a hat from my next-door neighbor.

My husband is a nice man in every other way but he has an iron grip on the pursestrings. We have one child and we owe no bills. He makes $10,000 a year. Do you think I'm entitled to a clothes allowance? If so, how much should I ask for?

Please hurry your answer, Ann. There is a big party coming up next week. — CINDERELLA'S DOUBLE.

Dear Cindy: What did you two talk about before you got married? And what have you been talking about for the last seven years?

Every woman whose husband is employed is entitled to an allowance for clothes. In your case I would say about $500 a year is not too much.

Mother Of Bride

Dear Ann: I'm 22 and engaged to marry a fellow 24.

Ed and I plan to be married in the spring and the problem is my mother. She wants to run everything. She said when she got married they had a small reception in the back yard and served beer and sandwiches and everybody had a swell time. That was 29 years ago, Ann. My mother doesn't realize times have changed.

I've offered to pay for part of the wedding because I know money is the reason Mom insists on a simple affair. She won't hear of it. She says Ed and I need our money for furniture and other household items.

We would rather have no reception than invite friends to have beer and sandwiches in the back yard. Please advise. — C. W. S.

Dear C. W. S.: Tell your mother you want a simple ceremony and no reception — and stick to it. There's no point in a celebration that would only make you and your fiance unhappy.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: A while back you mentioned making a Heloise mat out of an old bath mat. You told mother to keep this on the kitchen floor to clean up around sink. Well, Mom made one and she has been calling it her "Heloise."

MOTHER'S "JOHNNY THOMPSON."

DEAR READERS: This mat cannot be bought. You'll have to make them yourself. They are so simple to make I'm sure anyone can do it (I did)!. I think once you use one you will never be without it again.

Take any old chenille bath mat and double it over so that the chenille will be on both sides (bottom and top).

Lay a large dinner plate or a turkey platter on top. Take a crayon and trace around the edges of the plate for a pattern.

Use your scissors and cut out your two circles.

Sew these two pieces together (back-to-back) on your sewing machine or by hand. (I double stitched mine twice around the edges to give it body.)

Later, I found these mats so serviceable that I bought new pieces of chenille rugs, removing the fringe from the edges and stitching it around the outside of the mats. They are absolutely adorable and make lovely gifts.

BE SURE to make these mats no larger than 12 or 14 inches. If you do, you will be defeating the purpose.

Throw this mat on your kitchen floor and leave it there . . .

You will find it a dandy thing when Johnny spills the ice tray or drops something on your clean kitchen floor. Just take your foot and push the "Heloise mat" across the spills and save that stooping over!

The mat is so small that it takes practically no room in your washing machine each week.

Now, if you are real smart, as long as your are making one, you will make two. . . one to keep in front of your refrigerator and the other in front of your sink. Use the one in front of the sink to stand on (real easy on your back) and pick up those water drips when you wash dishes.

Kick one or the other in front of your stove when frying bacon or meats. Sure saves mopping linoleum later. Grease spatters in such a fine spray when we fry that we can't even see it.

AND, GALS, you are wrong . . if you think you can get by with only one side chenille. It's the bottom layer of chenille that wipes up the spills and shines the wax on the floor each time this mat is scooted across the floor with your foot!

Those Heloise mats are wonderful in the bathroom too. Just why should we wash a great big bath mat and take up space in our washing machine each week when we can use something smaller? Besides, whose feet are so big that they even need a two, or three foot bath mat?

One good thing about making the mats the same on both sides, is that when one side gets soiled it can be turned over in an emergency. . . and just who dosen't have emergencies?

So. . . go make yourself some of these cute mats.

You will love them. I do.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When addressing Christmas cards and it comes time to seal those envelopes—did you know that you could take an ice cube and use it to moisten the glue on the envelope?

You can either hold the ice cube with a piece of cloth and run it over the glue on the envelope or place the ice cube on a sponge and run the envelope over the cube.

FRANK CLOUD.

DEAR HELOISE: If folks who wear glasses will wash them in soapy water and then dry them without rinsing, their glasses will not fog when coming out of the cold into a warm room, or when going into the kitchen where the steam from cooking hits them.

MRS. PEL.

DEAR HELOISE: Don't discard that old scrubbing brush. Drive a nail, or place a cup hook into the woodwork frame of your back door. Put this about 24 inches from the floor so it will not look unsightly. Hang the scrubbing brush on the hook. It is exceptionally handy for cleaning mud from shoes and overshoes. Sure saves carpets.

BE SURE to make these mats no larger than 12 or 14 inches. If you do, you will be defeating the purpose.

Throw this mat on your kitchen floor and leave it there . . .

You will find it a dandy thing when Johnny spills the ice tray or drops something on your clean kitchen floor. Just take your foot and push the "Heloise mat" across the spills and save that stooping over!

The mat is so small that it takes practically no room in your washing machine each week.

Now, if you are real smart, as long as your are making one, you will make two. . . one to keep in front of your refrigerator and the other in front of your sink. Use the one in front of the sink to stand on (real easy on your back) and pick up those water drips when you wash dishes.

Kick one or the other in front of your stove when frying bacon or meats. Sure saves mopping linoleum later. Grease spatters in such a fine spray when we fry that we can't even see it.

AND, GALS, you are wrong . . . if you think you can get by with only one side chenille. It's the bottom layer of chenille that wipes up the spills and shines the wax on the floor each time this mat is scooted across the floor with your foot!

Those Heloise mats are wonderful in the bathroom too. Just why should we wash a great big bath mat and take up space in our washing machine each week when we can use something smaller? Besides, whose feet are so big that they even need a two, or three foot bath mat?

One good thing about making the mats the same on both sides, is that when one side gets soiled it can be turned over in an emergency. . . and just who dosen't have emergencies?

So. . . go make yourself some of these cute mats.

You will love them. I do.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When addressing Christmas cards and it comes time to seal those envelopes—did you know that you could take an ice cube and use it to moisten the glue on the envelope?

You can either hold the ice cube with a piece of cloth and run it over the glue on the envelope or place the ice cube on a sponge and run the envelope over the cube.

FRANK CLOUD.

DEAR HELOISE: If folks who wear glasses will wash them in soapy water and then dry them without rinsing, their glasses will not fog when coming out of the cold into a warm room, or when going into the kitchen where the steam from cooking hits them.

MRS. PEL.

DEAR HELOISE: Don't discard that old scrubbing brush. Drive a nail, or place a cup hook into the woodwork frame of your back door. Put this about 24 inches from the floor so it will not look unsightly. Hang the scrubbing brush on the hook. It is exceptionally handy for cleaning mud from shoes and overshoes. Sure saves carpets.

Penalty Given To 5 Drivers

One motorist was given a suspended fine, another was fined and three forfeited bonds on traffic violations Monday in Municipal Court.

Richard A. Green, 21, of 301 Grant St. was given a suspended fine of $15 and costs on a charge of illegal registration.

He was cited at 2:50 a. m. Monday by Patrolman Howard w. bosworth on a charge of driving a car with plates issued to another person. Green originally pleaded not guilty, but changed his plea to "no contest" following the officer's testimony.

Green told the court he had borrowed the auto although police showed Judge Samuel Chertoff a certificate of title.

Chertoff said the court will retain the title so the rightful owner can appear and make an explanation. Assistant Solicitor Richard J. Clark said a warrant has been issued for the owner.

Donald M. Dapollonia, 29, of 33-F, Midland Heights, was fined $5 and costs on a charge of crashing a traffic signal at Harvey Ave. and Putnam St. at 6:47 p. m. Sunday.

Paul F. Nichols of LaBelle, Pa., Frank DeSantis of Youngstown and Paul Fred Pavkov of Akron forfeited bonds of $17.50 each on State Highway Patrol charges.

Nichols was cited at 4:15 a. m. Saturday on Route 30 for speeding 75 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone and Pavkov was cited at 11:25 a. m. Saturday for speeding 65 in a 45-zone on Route 30 for passing at an approach to an intersection with the Cannons Mill Rd.

Gas Company Installs Pughtown Area Main

The job calls for laying of over a mile and a half of 4-inch line and installation of a 4-inch gate valve and 40 feet of 8-inch pipe casing.

Work is progressing south along State Route 2 and the Park Meadows subdivision of Clay District in Hancock County. John J. Egan, area manager in Weirton, said the pipeline will improve service to present consumers in the Pughtown area and make gas available for future residential and commercial development.

Lakes Shipments Last Month Best Since '56 Period

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Lake Carriers' Association says iron ore, coal and grain shipped over the Great Lakes in November totaled 15,149,504 net tons highest for the month since 1956.

This compares with 11,225,204 tons moved in November last year, the association reported Monday.

Grain shipments set an all-time record for the month in November—3,398,149 tons. The previous high was 3,078,520 tons in 1945.

November coal cargoes totaling 6,007,655 tons were the best for the month in 16 years. Ore shipments of 5,128,304 gross tons in November hit a two-year high for the month.

As of Dec. 1, net tonnage of the three commodities carried for the year was 132,815,606. In the corresponding 1962 period, 122,760,940 tons were shipped.

Combined shipments of iron ore and coal in November were the second highest since 1956, the association said, as a result of the increased activity in the steel industry and greater use of coal by utility and manufacturing installations throughout the Great Lakes area.

CHARLES DESHLER
Named To ELHS AD Post.

Ex-Grid Standout Replaces Hall

Charles Deshler, attendance officer in East Liverpool schools since 1950, was appointed athletic director of East Liverpool schools Monday night after the Board of Education accepted with regret the resignation of Mayor-elect Merrill D. Hall as director and teacher.

Deshler's appointment and Hall's resignation are effective the end of this week when schools dismiss for the Christmas vacation.

Deshler, who already is on the regular salary schedule as a certified teacher, will receive a two - year contract as athletic director with the $500 salary being pro rated for the balance of this school term. Next September the salary will be advanced to $650.

Supt. Paul H. Blair, who recommended Deshler's appointment, said he will continue his duties as attendance officer but his responsibilities as equipment manager and as cameraman for football and basketball games will be curtailed.

"I feel he will do a fine job," the superintendent commented.

C. Walter Ashbaugh made the motion to appoint Deshler with James Moss offering the second. James Lowe, president, and Harry D. McConville also supported the appointment. Mrs. Nessie R. Dunlop, the fifth member, was absent.

A former football star and graduate of East Liverpool schools, Deshler served in the Army from March, 1943 to March, 1946. He received a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1950 from Westminster College and took additional work at Kent State University.

He holds a provisional high school teaching certificate for economics and history.

Lowe summed up the board's sentiments in declaring, "He had the interest of the youngsters at heart. Win, lose or draw, he was a good man."

Blair declared he was personally indebted to the mayor-elect for the interest he has shown in the schools. "I do not believe we are losing him. He will remain as an asset to the community and school system."

In his letter of resignation, Hall thanked the board, administrators, faculty members, parents and fans for the success he has had. "I've had a wonderful time teaching and coaching," he said.

Hall has been on the faculty here for 19½ years and has been a teacher for 35 years. He served two years as reserve basketball coach and from 1946 to 1956 as varsity cage coach, never recording a losing season.

Does Parseghian Have ND Job?

Fails To Sign 4-Year Pact

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — The door may remain open at Notre Dame for Ara Parseghian to enter as head football coach.

But if it is closed, who did it — Notre Dame or Parseghian?

The strangest episode in coaching has taken place.

The Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, Notre Dame executive vice president, announced Saturday that Northwestern's Parseghian has become the new coach of the Fighting Irish, succeeding Hugh Devore, who was elevated to assistant athletic director.

After a delay of more than two hours, Parseghian appeared from a meeting with Father Joyce. The usual voluble, dynamic 40-year-old coach appeared distraught and shaken.

In a written statement, he said that a story Saturday in the South Bend Tribune naming him as the new Notre Dame coach touched off his decision to agree to the job.

But, he said, the story was premature and came when details of the contract were not fully worked out. Therefore, he wanted a few more days to have it resolved.

With that, and no more elaboration, he left by car for his home near Northwestern University, where he has served as coach for eight years.

Parseghian returned home, went to his bedroom and refused to be disturbed.

With neither side clarifying the matter, speculation was rife. Father Joyce had a brisk "no comment" when asked if Parseghian had:

1. Wanted assurance eventually of becoming athletic director.

2. Wanted complete freedom to name his assistants and their salaries, including a hefty pay check for his No. 1 lieutenant, Alex Agase, if Agase were not chosen as his successor at Northwestern.

3. Wanted an unhampered hand in recruiting with the aid of more than the 30 to 35 athletic scholarships Notre Dame now has available.

Father Joyce, asked point-blank if Parseghian would be the next Notre Dame coach, said "At this time I really can't say."

Meanwhile, Northwestern's athletic director, Stu Holcomb, said that Parseghian never had resigned officially and still had one more year to go on a five year contract.

Loyola Hits Top, Toledo Gains 9th

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Loyola of Chicago had to go to overtime to beat Detroit and just managed to down Western Michigan by three points last week. That failed, however, to dim the admiration of the experts who once again voted the Ramblers the nation's No. 1 college basketball team by a wide margin.

Most of the other teams in last week's Top Ten weren't quite as fortunate in The Associated Press' weekly poll. Four teams — Arizona State, Ohio State, Oregon State and Kansas —fell out altogether.

NYU dropped from second to seventh and Duke slipped from third to fifth.

Big gains were made by Kentucky, which jumped from fifth to the runner-up spot; Michigan, which rose from seventh to third and Cincinnati, which advanced from sixth to fourth.

Newcomers to the Top Ten were UCLA, ranked sixth; Vanderbilt eighth, Toledo ninth and Davidson 10th.

Loyola, which is averaging over 100 points per game in four straight victories, received 34 of the 43 first-place votes by a panel of sports writers and sportscasters to finish on top with 417 points.

The only other quintets to receive first - place votes were Kentucky with five, Michigan three and Toledo two.

Kentucky, now 5-0, was impressive with triumphs of 100-80 over North Carolina and 101-65 over Baylor. Michigan matched Kentucky's record with 80-70 and 104-81 victories over Butler and Western Michigan.

Cincinnati, in its only game last week, beat Wisconsin 65-50 to boost its mark to 3-1. Duke lost to Vanderbilt 97-92 in overtime, then beat Clemson 75-72. The Blue Devils' record is 4-1.

NYU lost to Toledo 87-74 at Madison Square Garden and just managed to beat little Fairleigh Dickinson 67-58 for a 4-1 record.

UCLA, Toledo and Davidson all are unbeaten. UCLA won its fourth straight, downing Kansas 74-54. Toledo's surprising triumph over NYU boosted its mark to 6-0. Davidson climbed to 5-0 knocking off Ohio State 95-73.

Only two members of the Top Ten saw action Monday night, and both won. Chicago Loyola outclassed South Dakota 112-68 and Duke defeated South Carolina 77-70. The balloting is based on results through last Saturday.

The Top Ten teams:

	Pts.
1. Loyola Chicago	417
2. Kentucky	328
3. Michigan	287
4. Cincinnati	201
5. Duke	171
6. UCLA	150
7. NYU	138
8. Vanderbilt	113
9. Toledo	111
10. Davidson	81

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Nearly $4 billion was bet on legalized horse races by 54,373,386 persons during 1963, both yearly record totals, on annual survey by The Associated Press showed today.

McPeak Rehired By Skins As Coach, General Mgr.

By W. B. RAGSDALE Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bill McPeak moved ahead with plans for 1964 today with a vote of confidence from his bosses and more authority than any Washington Redskin coach in history.

McPeak was rehired Monday as coach and general manager of the National Football League team with authority to spend any amount he thinks necessary for player talent and to make any changes he sees fit to build a winner.

It was a far cry from the old days when president George Preston Marshall kept a tight rein on his coaches, even occasionally calling plays over the telephone connected from his box to the Redskin bench.

Often, the colorful, controversial Marshall fired coaches with better records than the 3-11 McPeak's Redskins finished with Sunday.

In 27 seasons since he brought the team here from Boston, Marshall has had 11 coaches.

Marshall, now in his late 60s, has mellowed somewhat as he got older. The headline grabbing feuds with other national figures grew less frequent. And it was Marshall who named McPeak general manager in 1962 and handed the 37-year-old former All-Pro defensive end broad authority in dealing for playing talent.

Marshall is a sick man now, so sick that three of his old friends, Redskin directors C. Leo DeOrsey, Edward Bennett Williams and Milton King, asked a court last week to name them to handle his affairs.

Their petition said Marshall was unable to conduct his affairs properly because he is suffering from cerebral arteriosclerosis and other ailments.

It was DeOrsey, the vice president who is voting Marshall's 51 per cent of Redskin stock, who made the announcement Monday after a three-hour session with McPeak and three other directors, Williams, King and Jack Kent Cooke, Los Angeles sportsman.

Although the Redskins lost on the field, they had their best year in history this past season in attendance, up 50 per cent over 1961 to 303,638 for seven home games.

DeOrsey said McPeak was given a 25 per cent raise in pay, but didn't mention any figures.

The mandate given McPeak included an expansion of the talent scouting program he created almost from scratch in 1961. Washington had fallen far behind other NFL teams in this respect, and as a result had become a chronic loser.

CHARLES DESHLER
Named To ELHS AD Post.

Ex-Grid Standout Replaces Hall

Charles Deshler, attendance officer in East Liverpool schools since 1950, was appointed athletic director of East Liverpool schools Monday night after the Board of Education accepted with regret the resignation of Mayor-elect Merrill D. Hall as director and teacher.

Deshler's appointment and Hall's resignation are effective the end of this week when schools dismiss for the Christmas vacation.

Deshler, who already is on the regular salary schedule as a certified teacher, will receive a two - year contract as athletic director with the $500 salary being pro rated for the balance of this school term. Next September the salary will be advanced to $650.

Supt. Paul H. Blair, who recommended Deshler's appointment, said he will continue his duties as attendance officer but his responsibilities as equipment manager and as cameraman for football and basketball games will be curtailed.

"I feel he will do a fine job," the superintendent commented.

C. Walter Ashbaugh made the motion to appoint Deshler with James Moss offering the second. James Lowe, president, and Harry D. McConville also supported the appointment. Mrs. Nessie R. Dunlop, the fifth member, was absent.

A former football star and graduate of East Liverpool schools, Deshler served in the Army from March, 1943 to March, 1946. He received a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1950 from Westminster College and took additional work at Kent State University.

He holds a provisional high school teaching certificate for economics and history.

Board members and Blair joined in lauding Hall for his services as a teacher, coach and athletic director.

Lowe summed up the board's sentiments in declaring, "He had the interest of the youngsters at heart. Win, lose or draw, he was a good man."

Blair declared he was personally indebted to the mayor-elect for the interest he has shown in the schools. "I do not believe we are losing him. He will remain as an asset to the community and school system."

In his letter of resignation, Hall thanked the board, administrators, faculty members, parents and fans for the success he has had. "I've had a wonderful time teaching and coaching," he said.

Hall has been on the faculty here for 19½ years and has been a teacher for 35 years. He served two years as reserve basketball coach and from 1946 to 1956 as varsity cage coach, never recording a losing season.

Does Parseghian Have ND Job?

Fails To Sign 4-Year Pact

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — The door may remain open at Notre Dame for Ara Parseghian to enter as head football coach.

But if it is closed, who did it — Notre Dame or Parseghian?

The strangest episode in coaching has taken place.

The Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, Notre Dame executive vice president, announced Saturday that Northwestern's Parseghian has become the new coach of the Fighting Irish, succeeding Hugh Devore, who was elevated to assistant athletic director.

After a delay of more than two hours, Parseghian appeared from a meeting with Father Joyce. The usual voluble, dynamic 40-year-old coach appeared distraught and shaken.

In a written statement, he said that a story Saturday in the South Bend Tribune naming him as the new Notre Dame coach touched off his decision to agree to the job.

But, he said, the story was premature and came when details of the contract were not fully worked out. Therefore, he wanted a few more days to have it resolved.

With that, and no more elaboration, he left by car for his home near Northwestern University, where he has served as coach for eight years.

All this amounted to a walkout on final negotiations with Father Joyce, who remained firmly noncommittal on their meeting.

Parseghian returned home, went to his bedroom and refused to be disturbed.

With neither side clarifying the matter, speculation was rife. Father Joyce had a brisk "no comment" when asked if Parseghian had:

1. Wanted assurance eventually of becoming athletic director.

2. Wanted complete freedom to name his assistants and their salaries, including a hefty pay check for his No. 1 lieutenant, Alex Agase, if Agase were not chosen as his successor at Northwestern.

3. Wanted an unhampered hand in recruiting with the aid of more than the 30 to 35 athletic scholarships Notre Dame now has available.

Father Joyce, asked point-blank if Parseghian would be the next Notre Dame coach, said "At this time I really can't say."

Meanwhile, Northwestern's athletic director, Stu Holcomb, said that Parseghian never had resigned officially and still had one more year to go on a five year contract.

Loyola Hits Top, Toledo Gains 9th

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Loyola of Chicago had to go to overtime to beat Detroit and just managed to down Western Michigan by three points last week. That failed, however, to dim the admiration of the experts who once again voted the Ramblers the nation's No. 1 college basketball team by a wide margin.

Most of the other teams in last week's Top Ten weren't quite as fortunate in The Associated Press' weekly poll. Four teams — Arizona State, Ohio State, Oregon State and Kansas —fell out altogether.

NYU dropped from second to seventh and Duke slipped from third to fifth.

Big gains were made by Kentucky, which jumped from fifth to the runner-up spot; Michigan, which rose from seventh to third and Cincinnati, which advanced from sixth to fourth.

Newcomers to the Top Ten were UCLA, ranked sixth; Vanderbilt eighth, Toledo ninth and Davidson 10th.

Loyola, which is averaging over 100 points per game in four straight victories, received 34 of the 43 first-place votes by a panel of sports writers and sportscasters to finish on top with 417 points.

The only other quintets to receive first - place votes were Kentucky with five, Michigan three and Toledo two.

Kentucky, now 5-0, was impressive with triumphs of 100-80 over North Carolina and 101-65 over Baylor. Michigan matched Kentucky's record with 80-70 and 104-81 victories over Butler and Western Michigan.

Cincinnati, in its only game last week, beat Wisconsin 65-50 to boost its mark to 3-1. Duke lost to Vanderbilt 97-92 in overtime, then beat Clemson 75-72. The Blue Devils' record is 4-1.

NYU lost to Toledo 87-74 at Madison Square Garden and just managed to beat little Fairleigh Dickinson 67-58 for a 4-1 record.

UCLA, Toledo and Davidson all are unbeaten. UCLA won its fourth straight, downing Kansas 74-54. Toledo's surprising triumph over NYU boosted its mark to 6-0. Davidson climbed to 5-0 knocking off Ohio State 95-73.

Only two members of the Top Ten saw action Monday night, and both won. Chicago Loyola outclassed South Dakota 112-68 and Duke defeated South Carolina 77-70. The balloting is based on results through last Saturday.

The Top Ten teams:

		Pts.
1.	Loyola Chicago	417
2.	Kentucky	328
3.	Michigan	287
4.	Cincinnati	201
5.	Duke	171
6.	UCLA	150
7.	NYU	138
8.	Vanderbilt	113
9.	Toledo	111
10.	Davidson	81

Staubach Voted Nation's Outstanding Back In '63

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Honors continue to pile up for Roger Staubach.

Navy's All-America quarterback and Heisman Award winner who attained nationwide respect for individual prominence in gridiron skills, in character and dramatic appeal, was voted the outstanding college backfield performer of 1963 in a poll conducted by The Associated Press.

The slender, handsome, quiet-spoken field general from Cincinnati was an overwhelming choice, receiving 57 of the 107 votes cast by a panel of sports writers and broadcasters from every section of the country.

Nineteen other backfield stars attracted attention with Billy Lothridge, Georgia Tech's "Mr. Everything," topping the also-rans with 11 votes. Baylor quarterback Don Trull, the nation's leader in passing, was third with eight votes.

Sherman Lewis, the pint-sized Michigan State halfback who had five runs of 80 or more yards this past season, was next with six votes. Jimmy Sidle, Auburn's great runner and the nation's second leading rusher, had four votes. He was followed by Mel Renfro, Oregon's triple threat, and Terry Isaacson, the star quarterback of the Air Force Academy. Each had three votes.

Two votes each went to Gayle Sayers of Cansas, the nation's third leading rusher, and George Bork of Northern Illinois State, the top college passer, big and little. Bork had a fantastic record that included 244 completions in 374 attempts.

Staubach, in his junior year, smashed all Navy passing and scoring records. He piled up 1,890 yards in total offense while piloting the second ranked Middies to a 9-1 record and an invitation to a Cotton Bowl clash with unbeaten and top-ranked Texas. Jolly Roger's 67.3 passing percentage topped the nation.

Lothridge, the Engineers' versatile quarterback, set a college record of 12 field goals and was one of the nation's leading scorers. The 6-foot-1-inch, 187-pound senior's value to his team was inestimable. He ran, passed, punted, kicked field goals and extra points and kicked off.

Cager Plays With 6 Fouls, Sets Record?

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now along comes Lou Day, and presents still another problem.

Day, who plays for Lafayette, has quick hands. They only scored two points in a 75-68 loss to Columbia Monday night, but they set some sort of record for fouls. Before the official scorer caught up with Day he had six personals—one more than the limit.

They're still checking the record books on that one.

The record books, meanwhile, are doing a slide-rule business in the scoring department with top-ranked Loyola of Chicago leading an assault in which major college teams are scoring over 100 points with startling rapidity. Seven went over Monday night.

Loyola bruoght its record to 5-0 — they've hit 100 points or more four times—with a 112-68 walloping of South Dakota. Four starters accounted for 99 points, Ron Miller hitting for 31, Les Hunter 27, Vic Rouse 21 and John Egan 20.

In other 100-pointers, Memphis State's Bob Neumann scored 33 points in a 108-75 trouncing of Alabama, Charlie Shaffer scored 32 as North Carolina overwhelmed Tulane 109-81, Dick VanArsdale collected 28 in Indiana's 110-92 triumph over Detroit, Willie Somerset hit for 33 in Duquesne's 101-81 victory over Baldwin-Wallace, St. Louis crushed Lamar Tech 113-63 and George Washington whipped The Citadel 102-81.

Longhorn Tackle Lineman Of Year

By JACK KEEVER

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A coach's decision and a teammate, says All-America Scott Appleton, are responsible for his being named Monday in an Associated Press poll as the outstanding college football lineman of 1963.

Gordon Roberts is the teammate, and like Appleton, is a senior tackle for Texas, the nation's top-ranked team. The decision Appleton referred to was made in mid-season and it placed the rugged 239-pound Appleton at middle guard as primarily a defensive specialist.

"It's on defense that lineman gets publicity and wins honors," said Appleton. "I also feel that I help the team more on defense.

"I never was real outstanding on offense."

"Gordon's a real fine blocker—better than I am—and his play helped me to concentrate primarily on defense," Appleton said.

"I'm thrilled and very proud to win this honor," he added when told of his selection by eight votes over Illinois center Dick Butkus. Nebraska guard Bob Brown was third.

"That's great, just great," said Appleton's Coach Darrell Royal. "I don't think anybody could deserve it more. He really earned it."

It was Appleton's ability to make the big play, especially on defense, that pushed Texas to a 10-0 season and limited opponents to 6.5 points and 80.2 yards rushing per game.

Browns, agile and quick despite his 269 pounds, was the spark of a Nebraska team that won its first Big Eight championship in 23 years.

The rest of the votes were collected by 25 athletes, with Damon Bane, Southern Carlifornia guard, being named on three ballots as were Cal Eller, Minnesota tackle; Vern Burke, oregon State end, and Rick Redman, Washington linebacker.

Ramsey Asks: Grid Strategy OK, Why Not In Basketball?

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Ramsey, proud co-captain of the world champion Boston Celtics, heard a football player praised for committing a "strategy foul." The Ramsey reaction: "Why is there a different standard for basketball?"

Known for years as the off-the-bench firebrand of the five-time National Basketball Association kings, Ramsey is fuming over the censure he has received from Walter Kennedy, President of the league.

"No comment. Definitely no comment."

The question seemed logical enough. Since the story broke and the censure followed, Ramsey fouled out of a game for only the second time in the season at Philadelphia Friday night. Then he was charged with five fouls playing Cincinnati in Boston Saturday night.

After more questions, Ramsey volunteered:

"All my fouls, all that stuff in the article is strategy."

An ancient basketball technique is to foul and take a chance on giving up a point in order to get the ball and a chance to score two.

Ramsey then brought up the subject of Saturday's televised Kansas City - Boston American Football League game. Commentator Paul Christman, a former passing great, singled out a long pass play where the only defender clearly held the intended receiver and got a pass interference penalty.

Christman called it a smart play which saved a sure touchdown on which the defender was willing to give up an automatic first down to save six points.

"Nobody seemed to think there was anything wrong with that," Ramsey said. "And that's just the same thing I'm doing."

Results Due Friday On Stockholders Vote

CINCINNATI (AP)—The votes of 7,000 stockholders are being counted to see if Dubois Chemicals, Inc., will be sold to W.R. Grace & Co., but the outcome won't be announced until Friday.

The last votes were cast Monday after a stockholders' meeting that marked the end of a 11-week proxy fight between foes and backers of the merger. The fight has given rise to several lawsuits and three neutral court-appointed inspectors are counting the ballots.

Monday's balloting was to determine whether the assets will be sold in return for Grace stock. The merger calls for a swap of two Dubois shares for one share of the large industrial combine's stock. The stockholders will vote again next month on whether to dissolve Dubois.

Peters, Ford Share Mound Honors In AL

Peters captured the earned run title with a 2.33 average, edging teammate Juan Pizarro, another southpaw, who finished with 2.39. Peters, who had a 19-8 record, is the first rookie to win an AL ERA championship since Gene Bearden of Cleveland in 1948.

Camilo Pascual of Minnesota was third last season with 2.47. He was followed by two young Yankee pitchers, Jim Bouton, 2.53, and Al Downing, 2.56. Then came Lee Stange, Minnesota, 2.62, and Ford with 2.74.

Ford won the most games, 24, and had the highest won-lost percentage, .774. The Yankees' ace lost only seven times. He also was the league's workhorse, pitching 269 innings.

Pascual struck out the most batters for the third straight season, 202, and shared with New York's Ralph Terry the lead in complete games, each with 18.

Staubach Voted Nation's Outstanding Back In '63

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Honors continue to pile up for Roger Staubach.

Navy's All-America quarterback and Heisman Award winner who attained nationwide respect for individual prominence in gridiron skills, in character and dramatic appeal, was voted the outstanding college backfield performer of 1963 in a poll conducted by The Associated Press.

The slender, handsome, quiet-spoken field general from Cincinnati was an overwhelming choice, receiving 57 of the 107 votes cast by a panel of sports writers and broadcasters from every section of the country.

Nineteen other backfield stars attracted attention with Billy Lothridge, Georgia Tech's "Mr. Everything," topping the also-rans with 11 votes. Baylor quarterback Don Trull, the nation's leader in passing, was third with eight votes.

Sherman Lewis, the pint-sized Michigan State halfback who had five runs of 80 or more yards this past season, was next with six votes. Jimmy Sidle, Auburn's great runner and the nation's second leading rusher, had four votes. He was followed by Mel Renfro, Oregon's triple threat, and Terry Isaacson, the star quarterback of the Air Force Academy. Each had three votes.

Two votes each went to Gayle Sayers of Cansas, the nation's third leading rusher, and George Bork of Northern Illinois State, the top college passer, big and little. Bork had a fantastic record that included 244 completions in 374 attempts.

Staubach, in his junior year, smashed all Navy passing and scoring records. He piled up 1,890 yards in total offense while piloting the second ranked Middies to a 9-1 record and an invitation to a Cotton Bowl clash with unbeaten and top-ranked Texas. Jolly Roger's 67.3 passing percentage topped the nation.

Lothridge, the Engineers' versatile quarterback, set a college record of 12 field goals and was one of the nation's leading scorers. The 6-foot-1-inch, 187-pound senior's value to his team was inestimable. He ran, passed, punted, kicked field goals and extra points and kicked off.

Cager Plays With 6 Fouls, Sets Record?

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now along comes Lou Day, and presents still another problem.

Day, who plays for Lafayette, has quick hands. They only scored two points in a 75-68 loss to Columbia Monday night, but they set some sort of record for fouls. Before the official scorer caught up with Day he had six personals—one more than the limit.

Day got the extra foul—and was charged with it—before the official scorer could signal Day's disqualification for his fifth foul.

They're still checking the record books on that one.

The record books, meanwhile, are doing a slide-rule business in the scoring department with top-ranked Loyola of Chicago leading an assault in which major college teams are scoring over 100 points with startling rapidity. Seven went over Monday night.

Loyola bruoght its record to 5-0 — they've hit 100 points or more four times—with a 112-68 walloping of South Dakota. Four starters accounted for 99 points, Ron Miller hitting for 31, Les Hunter 27, Vic Rouse 21 and John Egan 20.

In other 100-pointers, Memphis State's Bob Neumann scored 33 points in a 108-75 trouncing of Alabama, Charlie Shaffer scored 32 as North Carolina overwhelmed Tulane 109-81, Dick VanArsdale collected 28 in Indiana's 110-92 triumph over Detroit, Willie Somerset hit for 33 in Duquesne's 101-81 victory over Baldwin-Wallace, St. Louis crushed Lamar Tech 113-63 and George Washington whipped The Citadel 102-81.

The only Top Ten in action besides Loyola, fifth-ranked Duke, not only didn't hit 100, but ran into considerable difficulty before subduing stubborn South Carolina 77-70.

In other struggles, Creighton edged Iowa 77-72 in overtime, Rice topped Georgia Tech 84-79 in overtime, Wichita defeated Texas 76-57, Bradley nipped Minnesota 78-75, Maryland downed Clemson 56-48 and Southern Mississippi surprised Mississippi State 65-50.

Longhorn Tackle Lineman Of Year

By JACK KEEVER

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A coach's decision and a teammate, says All-America Scott Appleton, are responsible for his being named Monday in an Associated Press poll as the outstanding college football lineman of 1963.

Gordon Roberts is the teammate, and like Appleton, is a senior tackle for Texas, the nation's top-ranked team. The decision Appleton referred to was made in mid-season and it placed the rugged 239-pound Appleton at middle guard as primarily a defensive specialist.

"It's on defense that lineman gets publicity and wins honors," said Appleton. "I also feel that I help the team more on defense.

"I never was real outstanding on offense."

"Gordon's a real fine blocker—better than I am—and his play helped me to concentrate primarily on defense," Appleton said.

"I'm thrilled and very proud to win this honor," he added when told of his selection by eight votes over Illinois center Dick Butkus. Nebraska guard Bob Brown was third.

"That's great, just great," said Appleton's Coach Darrell Royal. "I don't think anybody could deserve it more. He really earned it."

It was Appleton's ability to make the big play, especially on defense, that pushed Texas to a 10-0 season and limited opponents to 6.5 points and 80.2 yards rushing per game.

Browns, agile and quick despite his 269 pounds, was the spark of a Nebraska team that won its first Big Eight championship in 23 years.

The rest of the votes were collected by 25 athletes, with Damon Bane, Southern Carlifornia guard, being named on three ballots as were Cal Eller, Minnesota tackle; Vern Burke, oregon State end, and Rick Redman, Washington linebacker.

Ramsey Asks: Grid Strategy OK, Why Not In Basketball?

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Ramsey, proud co-captain of the world champion Boston Celtics, heard a football player praised for committing a "strategy foul." The Ramsey reaction: "Why is there a different standard for basketball?"

Known for years as the off-the-bench firebrand of the five-time National Basketball Association kings, Ramsey is fuming over the censure he has received from Walter Kennedy, President of the league.

"No comment. Definitely no comment."

The question seemed logical enough. Since the story broke and the censure followed, Ramsey fouled out of a game for only the second time in the season at Philadelphia Friday night. Then he was charged with five fouls playing Cincinnati in Boston Saturday night.

After more questions, Ramsey volunteered:

"All my fouls, all that stuff in the article is strategy."

An ancient basketball technique is to foul and take a chance on giving up a point in order to get the ball and a chance to score two.

Ramsey then brought up the subject of Saturday's televised Kansas City - Boston American Football League game. Commentator Paul Christman, a former passing great, singled out a long pass play where the only defender clearly held the intended receiver and got a pass interference penalty.

Christman called it a smart play which saved a sure touchdown on which the defender was willing to give up an automatic first down to save six points.

"Nobody seemed to think there was anything wrong with that," Ramsey said. "And that's just the same thing I'm doing."

Results Due Friday On Stockholders Vote

CINCINNATI (AP)—The votes of 7,000 stockholders are being counted to see if Dubois Chemicals, Inc., will be sold to W.R. Grace & Co., but the outcome won't be announced until Friday.

The last votes were cast Monday after a stockholders' meeting that marked the end of a 11-week proxy fight between foes and backers of the merger. The fight has given rise to several lawsuits and three neutral court-appointed inspectors are counting the ballots.

Monday's balloting was to determine whether the assets will be sold in return for Grace stock. The merger calls for a swap of two Dubois shares for one share of the large industrial combine's stock. The stockholders will vote again next month on whether to dissolve Dubois.

Peters, Ford Share Mound Honors In AL

Peters captured the earned run title with a 2.33 average, edging teammate Juan Pizarro, another southpaw, who finished with 2.39. Peters, who had a 19-8 record, is the first rookie to win an AL ERA championship since Gene Bearden of Cleveland in 1948.

Camilo Pascual of Minnesota was third last season with 2.47. He was followed by two young Yankee pitchers, Jim Bouton, 2.53, and Al Downing, 2.56. Then came Lee Stange, Minnesota, 2.62, and Ford with 2.74.

Ford won the most games, 24, and had the highest won-lost percentage, .774. The Yankees' ace lost only seven times. He also was the league's workhorse, pitching 269 innings.

Pascual struck out the most batters for the third straight season, 202, and shared with New York's Ralph Terry the lead in complete games, each with 18.

Pirates Buy Tribe's Allen On Condition

CLEVELAND (AP)— Lefty Bob Allen has become the second pitcher dealt away by the Cleveland Indians in the past month.

Allen, 26, who had been a reliever exclusively since joining the Tribe in 1961, was sold to the Pittsburgh Pirates on a conditional basis, the Indians announced Monday.

The Pirates have the first 30 days of the 1964 season to decide if they want to keep Allen. The purchase price was not disclosed.

Allen, who had an overall 5-5 record with Cleveland, won one and lost two last season. In 1963 he pitched 56 innings, walked 29, struck out 51 and finished with a 4.66 earned run average.

Barry Latman, a veteran righthander, and first baseman Joe Adcock were traded by Cleveland to the Los Angeles Angels for outfielder Leon Wagner earlier.

Rent Strike Appears To Have Been Settled

CLEVELAND (AP)—A rent strike, initiated by the Congress of Racial Equality, in the blighted Hough area on the East Side appears to have been resolved.

Initial repairs on the apartment house at 8503 Hough Ave., NE, where tenants refused to pay rent last week until damage was fixed, will be completed Wednesday, said Ross Realty Co., manager of the building.

Six of the seven tenants turned their rent money over to CORE. A CORE spokesman said Monday night, that, barring any unforeseen problems, the rent would be paid Wednesday morning.

A spokesman for the realty company said plans call for work to continue on hallways and other areas of the building after completion Wednesday of repairs to individual apartments.

Drive-In Is Short On Cash And Popcorn

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — A drive-in theater is short two essential items today—cash and popcorn.

Detectives said burglars covered floors and concrete walks with popcorn kernels to make things easier when they wheeled out a 350-pound safe containing $6,000 from the theater office.

Junior Editors Quiz on LABRADOR

QUESTION: Why is Labrador called Labrador when it is in Newfoundland?

ANSWER: "Newfoundland" originally meant the island to the right in our map; "Labrador" referred to the large peninsula to the left. Both areas were discovered by early explorers, but Newfoundland, because of its better climate and important fisheries, became much the most important. Newfoundlanders, however, always have had an interest in the Labrador coast (in black) because of sending their fishing vessels there in the summer. At one time, this coast was a "dependency" of Newfoundland.

As important minerals were found in the Labrador peninsula, Quebec disputed Newfoundland's claim. The English government settled the issue in 1927 by awarding to Newfoundland both the Labrador coast and that part of the peninsula shown in gray. These two areas are now part of Newfoundland which itself is a province of the Dominion of Canada (it was once a separate dominion). Because the two areas, in black and gray, are part of the general peninsula, they are usually spoken of as "Labrador." "Newfoundland" generally refers to the large island to the east, which is the main seat of the provincial government.

FOR YOU TO DO: Our artist especially enjoyed doing this picture of the Labrador coast, because he spent two summers there. Color the picture by making the huge cliffs dark slaty brown, and the water blue, leaving the icebergs and reflections pure white. The schooner's sails could be gold.

Cora Lee Morrissey of San Carlos, Calif., wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you too may win a set.

Sagas, And That Kind Of Stuff

John Secondari, the impresario of documentaries at ABC-TV, and his wife, Helen Jean Rogers, used to turn out fine TV reports on such contemporary matters as communism in Italy, the ecumenical tide in the Christian churches, the way things were going in Cambodia or Brazil, or "Britain: Ally on the Verge." They even told us what Britain was on the verge of though for the moment it's slipped my mind.

Alan Gill

THEIR SHOWCASE, you may remember, was "Close up", and Secondari liked to call his style of photography (the camera poking into the subject's ears and nostrils) the "open-pore method."

"Close up" was an imaginative, vigorous series that could stand alongside the best of "CBS Reports" without a blush or a stammer.

Still, at the end of last season, the sponsor called it quits, and the Secondaris went off in search of a new documentary area in which their cameras might go picking — something large and grand and meaningful.

"How about a saga?"

"A saga? Why not?"

"And, and—I've got it, kiddo! How about 'The Saga of Western Man'?"

WELL, THAT's what it's called, all right.

So far this season we've seen two of the Secondaris' sagas —the first fastening on the year 1492. Last Sunday, "that wonderful year" was 1776. And I wish the Secondaris would toss away all those banners, torches and vestments of yore and come back home to the 20th century, where they're needed.

"1776" was a crisp enough job. The cameras kept panning and zooming over the portraits, statuary, artifacts and architecture of our colonial days as narrators' voices, with a nice catch of importance in every word, took us tumbling through the events of that year.

THE TECHNIQUES of the historical documentary areas familiar to all of us by now as the plot of a Cary Grant-Doris Day movie is.

Wooden cases floating in the bay: that will do for the Boston Tea Party. A tricorn hat floating on a river: ah, there's been violence. Torches and sticks and shadows dancing aganst the windows: the natives are getting testy.

The Secondaris, I think, cheated a bit in their extensive use of moving silhouettes: the cannons being moved from Ft. Ticonderoga to Boston, Paul Revere setting out on his ride, some agitated speakers at Williamsburg's House of Burgesses or Philadelphia's Independence Hall.

This was an out-and-out violation of TV's Lou Hazam Code, which commands that the people in documentaries may never be seen but always heard.

THE SAGA of '76 was, let me say quickly, a competent, professional job most of the way.

Some of its scenes (the campfires at Valley Forge as Gen. Washington orders a Tom Paine pamphlet read to the men, or the final shot of a soldier leaving bloody footprints in the snow as he marched forward to "a new nation . . . a new dream" were exceptional.

The dissatisfactions with this "Saga" are not rooted in the limitations imposed upon it by static materials — though I hope the future sagas will be able to avoid the seemingly compulsory shots of leaves against the sky whenever other shots are hard to come by. (Let's have a hawk's flight next time, or a number of salmon trying to scale the falls.)

The dissatisfactions lie, instead, in (a) material that is utterly familiar and (b) an approach to it that hasn't the faintest element of freshness or surprise.

WHEN A STORY as twice and thrice told as the American Revolution comes along, then I'd like to see an artist's view of it (Saul Steinberg? Tomi Ungerer? Saul Bass? Bill Mauldin?) or hear a creative writer's speculations and musings (William Saroyan? Norman Mailer? Mark Van Doren? Hannah Arendt?

But so far, the ABC network's "Saga of Western Man" is a page shipped from a fifth-grade textbook, and that's exactly a stimulating enterprise, ever for the youngsters.

If viewer suggestions are welcome, I'd like to toss a particular year into the hopper for the consideration of Mr. Secondari and Miss Rogers — a year of monumental importance and colorful incident, and one that's close to the producers' hearts. 1964.

Airplanes In Mexico Toot As They Land

MEXICO CITY (AP) — If air travel in Mexico has something in common with railroads, there's a reason for it.

Bringing Up A Family

Gifts At School Can Raise Problems

When I was a boy in the upgraded country school where I later taught, it was the custom for the teacher to present each school child with a gift. This gift usually consisted of a bag of candy and an orange. The teacher bought those gifts out of his or her own money. I recall one time when a teacher of mine failed to present these gifts and we kids were all displeased. We came to feel the teacher owed us the treat.

Dr. Garry Meyers

Today the procedure is reversed, as a rule. The teacher in the early elementary grades receives gifts from individual children. This way makes more sense but has its obvious shortcomings.

—:—

NOT ALL PARENTS of children of a given classroom can afford to buy such gifts, and some who can, think they shouldn't. Some children may present the teacher with costly gifts while others present none.

It's difficult for children and their parents not to suppose that gifts to the teacher might make a difference in her attitude at school toward the givers; also a difference in the relationship between the children who bear her gifts and those who don't. Besides, the child who has no gift to present may feel distressed. The custom is contrary to our basic concept of democracy.

Suppose you were a teacher convinced that you should not accept gifts from your pupils or their parents. But suppose these pupils had been accustomed to the practice. You might dread to hurt their feelings if you refused to accept gifts from them.

HOWEVER, YOU might make matters easier if you told the class ahead of time that you did not wish to receive any gifts from your pupils and then explained why. You might also send home an announcement to this effect.

The Board of Education could solve this problem better by passing a resolution forbidding teachers to accept gifts from their pupils, or by just denouncing the practice.

If the children and their parents insisted on giving something to others at Christmas time, they might agree to collect pennies, nickels or dimes among themselves for some worthy cause such as the fund for crippled children. Care, The Heifer Project or UNICEF.

In such cases, the more the children or parents know about the fund, or organization they choose to make a gift to, the more enthusiasm and consequent moral value they would derive from this expression of generosity.

My bulletin "The Very Selfish Child" may be secured by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Out Of The Air

Sagas, And That Kind Of Stuff

John Secondari, the impresario of documentaries at ABC-TV, and his wife, Helen Jean Rogers, used to turn out fine TV reports on such contemporary matters as communism in Italy, the ecumenical tide in the Christian churches, the way things were going in Cambodia or Brazil, or "Britain: Ally on the Verge." They even told us what Britain was on the verge of though for the moment it's slipped my mind.

Alan Gill

THEIR SHOWCASE, you may remember, was "Close up", and Secondari liked to call his style of photography (the camera poking into the subject's ears and nostrils) the "open-pore method."

"Close up" was an imaginative, vigorous series that could stand alongside the best of "CBS Reports" without a blush or a stammer.

Still, at the end of last season, the sponsor called it quits, and the Secondaris went off in search of a new documentary area in which their cameras might go picking — something large and grand and meaningful.

"How about a saga?"

"A saga? Why not?"

"And, and—I've got it, kiddo! How about 'The Saga of Western Man'?"

WELL, THAT's what it's called, all right.

So far this season we've seen two of the Secondaris' sagas —the first fastening on the year 1492. Last Sunday, "that wonderful year" was 1776. And I wish the Secondaris would toss away all those banners, torches and vestments of yore and come back home to the 20th century, where they're needed.

"1776" was a crisp enough job. The cameras kept panning and zooming over the portraits, statuary, artifacts and architecture of our colonial days as narrators' voices, with a nice catch of importance in every word, took us tumbling through the events of that year.

THE TECHNIQUES of the historical documentary areas familiar to all of us by now as the plot of a Cary Grant-Doris Day movie is.

Wooden cases floating in the bay: that will do for the Boston Tea Party. A tricorn hat floating on a river: ah, there's been violence. Torches and sticks and shadows dancing aganst the windows: the natives are getting testy.

The Secondaris, I think, cheated a bit in their extensive use of moving silhouettes: the cannons being moved from Ft. Ticonderoga to Boston, Paul Revere setting out on his ride, some agitated speakers at Williamsburg's House of Burgesses or Philadelphia's Independence Hall.

This was an out-and-out violation of TV's Lou Hazam Code, which commands that the people in documentaries may never be seen but always heard.

THE SAGA of '76 was, let me say quickly, a competent, professional job most of the way.

Some of its scenes (the campfires at Valley Forge as Gen. Washington orders a Tom Paine pamphlet read to the men, or the final shot of a soldier leaving bloody footprints in the snow as he marched forward to "a new nation . . . a new dream" were exceptional.

The dissatisfactions with this "Saga" are not rooted in the limitations imposed upon it by static materials — though I hope the future sagas will be able to avoid the seemingly compulsory shots of leaves against the sky whenever other shots are hard to come by. (Let's have a hawk's flight next time, or a number of salmon trying to scale the falls.)

The dissatisfactions lie, instead, in (a) material that is utterly familiar and (b) an approach to it that hasn't the faintest element of freshness or surprise.

WHEN A STORY as twice and thrice told as the American Revolution comes along, then I'd like to see an artist's view of it (Saul Steinberg? Tomi Ungerer? Saul Bass? Bill Mauldin?) or hear a creative writer's speculations and musings (William Saroyan? Norman Mailer? Mark Van Doren? Hannah Arendt?

But so far, the ABC network's "Saga of Western Man" is a page shipped from a fifth-grade textbook, and that's exactly a stimulating enterprise, ever for the youngsters.

If viewer suggestions are welcome, I'd like to toss a particular year into the hopper for the consideration of Mr. Secondari and Miss Rogers — a year of monumental importance and colorful incident, and one that's close to the producers' hearts. 1964.
